U.S. May 'Cool' Trucker Strike

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — The Teamsters union and the trucking industry resume contract negotiations today after what Teamster officials say was an overwhelming strike authorization in weekend voting at union locals around the country.

The current contract expires at midnight Wednesday. The industry's latest contract proposal also was rejected overwhelmingly in the local voting, Teamsters spokesman said.

However, an immediate work stoppage by the 400,000 Teamster truckers is unlikely. The federal government is expected to call for an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act to forestall such a walkout, although some union members have predicted wildcat actions if that happens.

A Teamsters spokesman said a nationwide tally on rejecting or accepting the management offer and authorizing a strike would be available when negotiations resume today.

Labor Secretary W.J. Usery Jr. flew to Chicago on Sunday night as scattered returns from the voting at union locals showed results of 5-1 or greater in almost every case. One Boston local voted 99-1 against the management offer.

Usery said last week he would move the negotiations from this Chicago suburb to Washington if a settlement did not take shape quickly.

The Ford administration fears a strike could badly damage the nation's economic recovery but wants to prevent a settlement big enough to trigger a new surge of inflation.

The contract covers drivers who move nearly 60 per cent of the country's manufactured goods.

Industry and union sources have said they are hopeful they can reach a settlement before the Teamsters' National Master Freight Agreement with 16,000 trucking firms expires.

The chief negotiators are Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons and William G. McIlroy, president of Trucking Employers Inc.

Sources close to the negotiations reported Sunday that they felt there were no issues that could not be worked out before Buchanan's Bucks beat the Negaunee Miners 57-50 Saturday to win Michigan's Class C state high school basketball championship. The win gave Buchanan a perfect season, 28 and 0, and kept intact the No. 1 ranking the Bucks had held from about midway through the basketball season. For complete coverage of Saturday's win and Sunday's triumphant homecoming, see stories and pictures in Sections 3 and 4.

Retired Judge Carl D. Mosier Dies At Age 88

DOWAGIAC — Former Cass-Van Buren circuit court Judge Carl Downing Mosier, 88, 106 Hamilton street, Dowagiac, died Sunday evening in Lee Memorial hospital here following an illness of two months. Judge Mosier's legal career spanned 50 years, including 12 years as judge of the 36th Judicial circuit which then included both Cass and Van Buren counties. He retired from the bench in December, 1959, but pursued careers in other fields.

He was elected in 1961 as the delegate for Cass and St. Joseph counties to the state's constitutional convention, and in 1965 he was named president of the Dowagiac Savings and Loan Association. He served on the firm's board from September, 1946, until January, 1969.

The high point of his career, he told this newspaper in a 1958 interview as he was retiring from the bench, was in 1925 when he argued a case before the U.S. Supreme Court while former President William Howard Taft was chief justice.

The case involved the settlement of the Michigan-Wisconsin boundary, took more than three years to prepare and was settled in Michigan's favor.

He was born Oct. 7, 1887, in Decatur, Mich. His wife, the former Ruth Hendryx, preceded him in death on Jan. 29, 1954.

He was a charter member of Dowagiac Rotary and a past president. He was also a charter member of the conservation club and was on the board of the E. Root Fitch Foundation. He was also a member of the Federated Church of Dowagiac and the Dowagiac Masonic lodge.

Networks Reject Reagan Request

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ronald Reagan, faced with the refusal of the three major television networks to sell him air time, says they should grant his request "in the interest of fairness and justice as well as the peoples' right to know."

Reagan said that by refusing to sell him time, ABC, CBS and NBC are denying him equal access to the people because "the other contender" — President Ford — can usually get network time whenever he requests it for an address that isn't considered purely political.

Meanwhile, as the final full week of campaigning before the April 6 presidential primaries in Wisconsin and New York was launched, Alabama Gov. George Wallace said that if he doesn't win the Democratic presidential nomination this time he probably will retire from politics after serving out his term as governor.

Wallace, who ran second to Sen. George McGovern in Wisconsin's 1972 primary, said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" that he intends to continue his campaign for the presidency until the Democratic National Convention in July, despite defeats by Democratic frontrunner Jimmy Carter in three consecutive primaries — Florida, Illinois and North Carolina.

The hustings were relatively quiet on Sunday as Ford, Reagan and Democrat Jimmy Carter all took the day off.

Following his North Carolina victory over Ford, Reagan decided to change his tactics. He appears on the ballot in only one of three primaries to be held next month, so he decided to desert the stump in favor of network television, the medium he knows and uses best.

Reagan canceled a full slate of appearances this week in Virginia, Wisconsin and Indiana to prepare a half-hour, nationwide television speech expected to cost up to $100,000. But all three major networks turned him down on the basis that there was not enough time to make schedule changes.

He sent a telegram Saturday repeating the request. It was made public Sunday. A CBS spokesman said the network had received the telegram, but he had no comment. NBC also said it had received the telegram and was examining the request. Officials at ABC could not be reached for comment.

Meanwhile, "the other contender" spent a relaxed Sunday at the White House after campaigning Friday and Saturday in California, Reagan's home

Paying Piper For State's Presidential Primary

Will the Presidential primary be run off as scheduled on May 18 and, if so, who will pay its estimated $2.5 million cost?

Attorney General Frank Kelley hopes the Michigan Appeals Court will give a quickie answer in the affirmative without getting into the financial argument.

Governor Milliken said this past weekend he thinks the fairest solution is to divide the expense between the state treasury and the city and township tills.

The hassle arose last Wednesday when Ray C. Hotchkiss, a Lansing circuit judge, issued a temporary order holding up the election.

He responded momentarily to a group of local officials who filed suit against the Lansing establishment on the ground that as long as the legislature created the primary it should pay the cost of conducting it.

Later in the week he indicated he would rule this Thursday on whether he will put a permanent press in his first opinion.

Kelley filed the appeal before the ink had scarcely dried on the original order.

The Attorney General is asking the Appeals Court to rule immediately because it takes about six weeks to crank up the polling booths for all but the most limited type of voting contests.

The dispute over which beleaguered public till, state or local, is better suited to stand another assault is an oversight fairly typical of how Lansing goes at a problem.

Four years ago the legislature's Democratic majority enlisted Michigan for the first time in the ranks of those states holding a Presidential popularity contest.

Although the basic statute did not mention how its costs should be met the legislature passed a $2.25 million appropriation for that purpose.

So far it has made no move to repeat the financial gesture, thus prompting the suit before Judge Hotchkiss.

Except that Jimmy Carter's winning ways in a half dozen primaries is beginning to upset the game plans of many influential Democratic launchers, Kelley probably would not have filed the appeal.

The Republicans could care less if the May 18th election is scratched because Reagan would have to pull off a 24-karat miracle to beat Jerry Ford in his home territory.

Carter, however, is becoming a life size stone in the shoe to some people.

Unlike his opponents, actual or potential, he is not beholden to any leadership faction within his party. He is a liberal, a conservative, a middle of the roader, depending on which audience he is greeting at any given moment.

This is distressing beyond endurance to the organized labor bosses who want no truck with any political figure not of their choosing.

Consequently the May 18th primary is crucial to the UAW which seeks to put a dent in Carter's fender.

The UAW rammed through the first primary four years ago in the hope it could defuse George Wallace's campaign by dusting off Hubert Humphrey for a second run at the Presidency.

Wallace beat the UAW push by taking 51 per cent of the primary votes and two months later George McGovern gave off the labor chieftains the go by through capturing the nomination at the Democratic national convention.

Seeing how hard it is to find money for essential public services at the state and local levels, and in looking at who has the vested interest in the primary, the Democratic party should stage its own straw poll on Carter vs. the opposition.

Any break, however small, for the taxpayer would be appreciated.

WANTS GARAGE LAW REPEALED

Editor,

Repeal the Garage Law!

We, the small business people, have always been the ones to pay. Those in business or those who have been in business understand, and should not let anymore happen. Maybe it seems too late now, but if we let this law be made final, we will have no freedom of choice. There won't be any small garages in and around our small communities to go to.

For example, can you get a small appliance fixed? No, we must buy a new one because they have put so many laws on people (those with a skill) that it doesn't pay them to use them. Does a license or a law ever guarantee you good work?

No! If a garage doesn't do you good work you find another one. That is your choice. You don't realize they are going to take this choice away from you.

You will be paying even more then you do now to have your car fixed or repaired. In a lot of cases you may even have to buy a new one.

There again, the big companies will profit. There are petitions at a lot of garages all over Michigan. Please make an effort to sign one in your area (you must be a registered voter). We are mostly everyday people and we all must work together. I know as a hard working citizen that we can't be the only ones with this opinion.

In America we fight for freedom all over the world. The ones we are fighting, our government allows it to exist in our own country. It is time to stand united for the good of everyone.

'BALONEY IS ALL ABOUT'

Editor,

Please don't misunderstand me. I'm not here to defend the oversized, underweighted leaves produced by Bonnie Baking, Inc., LaPorte, Ind. Trifun sprouted wheat is really more my style. Look no further, Judge Hammond. The baloney is all about. It is taught in the schools. It is worshipped in the churches. It is ground, dyed, and artificially flavored by legislative bodies.

It is distillation and it is the cure for disillusionment. It is increased defense expenditures and it is defense. Baloney is the Michigan Bread Puff Inn. And it is James Burrows causing a ruckus that may cost Bonnie Baking $50,000 all over a puffy loaf of bread that he never really wanted in the first place. Yes, where's the baloney? "It's over there," cry the commentaries. "No, it's the commentaries," cry the yanks. "You're both right," cry I. "It's baloney home and away from home, wherever one might be parking."

Baloney is legalizing abortions. Baloney is illegalizing abortions. Baloney is electing a man to speak for you in Lansing or Bogota when you have in your mouth the same tongue you were born with and could speak for yourself. If you had anything to say, indeed, the baloney is so thick about us that even us good folks smell of it. The baloney is unnoticed because it is omnipresent; the last thing a swordfish will discover is salt water.

I salute Bonnie Baking, Inc., of LaPorte, Ind., for baking bread in their bread pans. This is sensible. I salute any prisoner who escapes and any man who avoids imprisonment. This is sensible. I salute Judge Hammond for his humor and Bob Hope for his political endeavors. I salute any student senate that votes itself out of existence citing "it's a farce," as a reason. I want my bread so light and long and full and fluffy that it may double as my parachute. With butter, of course.

'SENSIBLE PEOPLE MAKE THINGS WORK'

Editor,

Recently I discussed the mechanics march on the Capitol.

I think I should also bring to your attention an interesting side light that occurred at the 47 garage and service station men were crowded into my office discussing their problems with me.

The problem of the "oscillating red light"! Several years ago it was brought to my attention by several different groups that so many different people had the oscillating or flashing red light on the top of their car or truck that it had no meaning.

When an ambulance or fire truck would try to make its run, people were just not giving them the right-of-way. There were so many flashing red lights going up and down the road that people were not recognizing the true emergency vehicles.

It was for this reason that I "team up" with Representative Joe Forbes (D-Oak Park) and got a law passed which spelled out what an emergency vehicle was and then limited the use of the oscillating red light to these vehicles only.

Thus, the law did not allow tow trucks or wreckers to use this light as they have in the past.

The other day, the people in my office impressed me on a real need for an emergency warning for wreckers at the scene of an accident. I know from experience that many drivers will not slow down for anything unless there is a police car at the scene, or else huge signs which they dare not attack.

The operators of the wreckers said they were risking their lives while trying to extract an injured person from a wreck or trying to remove a disabled vehicle from the roadside. I could readily understand the problem. The next day, an amendment to the law was drawn up to allow a wrecker to use the flashing red light only while working at the scene of an accident or disablement. The amendment is being introduced by several different groups that so many different people had the oscillating or flashing red light on the top of their car or truck that it had no meaning.

When an ambulance or fire truck would try to make its run, people were just not giving them the right-of-way. There were so many flashing red lights going up and down the

Who Dares Cheat On IRS?

he's safely locked away, says that the more Bray protested, the angrier the IRS became: "The thing about Karl is that he went public, and the IRS just wouldn't stand for it."

Finally, he was taken to court as a tax chiseler. He received a six-month sentence for illegal possession of an IRS document (a harmless piece of paper which any citizen may obtain today through proper channels). He was then given a year each on two counts of tax evasion. He is serving his time (six months now), in a medium security prison where he has come to the attention of the warden for his attempts to interest other prisoners in the tax revolt movement.

Admittedly, it is impossible to write of Karl Bray without naked feelings. Dislikeable as it is, and perhaps it is even technically illegal, government tax collection is necessary, and the cooperation of citizens is vital. Yet there can be nothing but contempt for law enforcement when it becomes, as in Bray's case, enforcement excess.

Actually, it may even be argued that all things being equal Bray should not be in jail at all. Millions of Americans cheat on their tax payments annually, many of them known to the IRS, yet only a handful are ever prosecuted (about 1,300 a year). Many people even advise the government they are chiseling, usually for antiwar or anti-armament purposes, and yet are not thrown in jail. Indeed, the IRS closes its eyes to most tax cheating because it does not have the ability to throw legions of Americans in the slam.

This Veto Necessary?

group called the Business Roundtable, have worked hard to defeat the measure. They have raised several technical objections, most of which the House met in passing its bill. It is not clear, however, whether the Senate will similarly agree to modify its version of the bill.

It is difficult to see why companies which are not doing anything wrong would have anything to fear from this bill. State attorneys general would have to meet the normal requirements for proof, which are stringent.

The President is, at least, consistent in his attitude. He has emphasized cutting social services while asking for new tax breaks for business. He has proposed to cut corporate income taxes 20 percent in the next five years. He has vetoed public works bills on the grounds that government shouldn't compete with private employers. He vetoed the common situs picketing bill because it would have increased the expenses of contractors.

On many of those issues, business has an argument that is at least worth considering. But the only credible reason that business is opposed to the state attorneys general bill is the President is on the wrong side on this one. The measure may help vast numbers of consumers and it won't hurt any businessman who is clean.

You could easily convince a whole generation of parents and other elders that noise is a big problem in the U.S. Hard rock music has done that to them.

But rock appears to be legal if annoying.

Other kinds of cacophony, however, have been put under the jurisdiction of the federal government for abatement. This has done little good, according to an article by Paul H. Weaver in the March issue of Fortune magazine. Weaver's title is "Noise Regulation Strikes a Sour Note."

Almost as bad as rock, isn't it?

Anyway, here's some of what Author Weaver has to say:

"For several years now, with little self-consciousness and little public attention, the federal government has been engaged in a struggle to lower the nation's noise level." . . . "At first glance, this program would seem to have the makings of a respectable regulatory success." . . . "Yet, despite its promise and emerging accomplishments, noise regulation is anything but a success. It neglects some serious noise problems, and deals with others inappropriately. In some cases it is making matters worse. Where regulation does good, it tends to do so at outlandishly excessive cost."

In other words, the program is a public-policy disaster." . . . "Federal noise regulation is at war with itself. On the one hand, the program is guided by stringent public-health noise-level goals. Since the main sources of noise in modern society are basic to our economy and way of life — factory machines, trucks, and airplanes, for instance — these goals put the regulators on a collision course with the entire socioeconomic. On the other hand, the regulators do not necessarily have authority to see that the goals are met; in making decisions they must often attend to other criteria."

Here's another instance of so-called "regulators" goofing up.

Why not abolish the noise law and replace it with a grant to give every citizen a set of those new fangled anti-noise earmuffs? It would be less expensive and, apparently, a lot more effective.

Who Dares Cheat On IRS?

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — No arm of government is more detested than that of the Internal Revenue Service, and too often with good reason.

It's not that the agency just takes people's money, it's how it does it, or what it does if it can't. The press regularly and wearily report on the occasion of some poor devil somewhere who sticks a rifle into his mouth and blows his fears away.

And then there are those who try to stick it out such as Karl Bray of Salt Lake City, Utah, lately of Terminal Island Federal Penitentiary in San Pedro, Cal. No guns for him. Just bars, self-rot and a future that is more of the same.

Bray was a radio commentator when, in the summer of 1971, the IRS came. As part of a regular talk show program, he invited a militant "tax resister" named Marvin Cooley to air his views. Cooley did, saying that he was avoiding his own taxes and advising others to join him in what he called the IRS violations of First and Fifth Amendment rights. Local-federal authorities were greatly annoyed, thereafter targeting Bray for close watch and mischief. For starters, they had him fired from his job.

Admittedly, it is impossible to write of Karl Bray without mixed feelings. Distasteful as it is, and perhaps it is even technically illegal, government tax collection is necessary, and the cooperation of citizens is vital. Yet there can be nothing but contempt for law enforcement when it becomes, as in Bray's case, enforcement excess.

Actually, it may even be argued that all things being equal Bray should not be in jail at all. Millions of Americans cheat on their tax payments annually, many of them known to the IRS, yet only a handful are ever prosecuted (about 1,500 a year).

Understandably, the intrusion irked Bray, a libertarian who, if he thought little of the IRS bureaucracy before it came down on him, thought less of it after. He began to organize similarly dissatisfied citizens in Salt Lake City, eventually urging tax protest rallies and tax revolt. His wife, who speaks for her hoodlum husband now that he's safely locked away, says that the more Bray protested, the angrier the IRS became: "The thing about Karl is that he went public, and the IRS just wouldn't stand for it."

Finally, he was taken to court as a tax chiseler. He received a six-month sentence for illegal possession of an IRS document (a harmless piece of paper which any citizen may obtain today through proper channels). He was then given a year each on two counts of tax evasion. He is serving his time (six months now) in a medium security prison where he has come to the attention of the warden for his attempts to interest other prisoners in the tax revolt movement.

Miss NAACP Crown Goes To SJ Girl

Sharon Ruth Madison, 18, a St. Joseph high school honor student whose interests range from the cello to outdoor backpacking, Sunday night was crowned Miss Twin City Area NAACP of 1976.

Nearly 600 people applauded the new queen and the 16 other contestants in Benton Harbor high school auditorium.

Miss Madison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shannon L. Madison of 2900 Morton avenue, St. Joseph. She is a senior.

First runnerup was Deborah Michell Joseph, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Joseph, 3193 Edwards road, Sodus township, and a senior at Benton Harbor high school.

Second runnerup was Rochell Buels, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Buels, 2025 Territorial road, Benton township. She is a sophomore at Benton Harbor high school.

Elected Miss Congeniality by fellow contestants was Sharon Griffin, 16, daughter of Mrs. Rosemary Griffin, 794 Superior street, Benton Harbor, and a junior at Benton Harbor high school.

The new queen is petite for someone who enjoys backpacking trips: 5 feet 2 inches and 103 pounds. Miss Madison performed a cello solo for her talent entry in the contest.

Miss Madison is a member of the National Honor Society, and plans to enter Hope college.

Her full length white gown was flared and included a sash tied from the waist. It featured a V-neck, long puffed sleeves with deep cuffs, accented with satin buttons and a deep ruffle on the skirt.

The queen and her court will ride on the NAACP float in the Blossom parade next May.

The contest was staged among Bicentennial red, white and blue decorations and used the theme, "America, So Young and Beautiful."

Contest sponsor was the Happiness Bloom club, which conducts NAACP Blossomtime activities. Melvin Ellis was chairman. Commentators from the high school were Sandra Rutter, counselor and cheerleader advisor, and Charles Henderson, a teacher.

Judges were Willie Proctor, supervisor of industrial health, safety and security for Bendix Corp. hydraulics division, south of St. Joseph; Suzanne Bennett, Calhoun county assistant comptroller; and Edward James, director, Calhoun county Commission on Aging.

Escorts were Stanley McGinnis and Bill Perry. Derek Thomas, Anthony Dorch, and Burdina Rutter were pages, while ushers were Sandra Dudley, Valerie Joseph, Cheri Rhodes, Cynthia Simmons, Linda Patterson, Danette Davis, Sandra Allen, and Renée Dowdy. Tellers were Charlene Tynes, Ella Atkins, and Joseph DeFrance.

Other contestants were Iris Denise Guidry, Vanessa Coleman, Emma Phillips, Carolyn McAfee, Diane Lloyd, Joyce Shurn, Cathy McMillan, Vicki Thomas, Cynthia Nelson, Kimberly Robinson, Cheryl Heggler, Brenda Patterson, and Vestina Mitchell.

Mr. Willming was afflicted for several years with a heart ailment. He died Friday afternoon at Mercy hospital. Survivors were listed in this newspaper Saturday.

Mr. Willming joined the city police department in June, 1962, as a patrolman. He was assigned to the detective bureau in 1960. Later that same year, Mr. Willming moved to California to operate a store. He rejoined the department as a patrolman in 1963 and remained until his retirement in June, 1972. In 1974, Mr. Willming was elected president of the Fraternal Order of Police Blosomland Lodge 100.

No Fire

Benton Harbor firemen Sunday investigated a smoke report at senior high school and said they found that a fire extinguisher had been emptied in two second floor corridors.

Firemen listed the cause as vandalism and reported the smoke to be fog from a carbon dioxide extinguisher. There was no fire. School personnel notified the fire department at 6:02 p.m.

The Twin City Area NAACP contest was beginning in the main floor auditorium, and continued without interruption.

HOWARD WILLMING

Rites Are Held For Retired Officer

Benton Harbor police officers today joined in a procession to attend funeral services for Howard Willming, 51, a retired veteran of nearly 17 years with the department, who died Friday, following a long illness.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. from the Dey-Florin funeral home, St. Joseph. Burial was in Riverview cemetery.

City police attended services in a caravan, formed at police headquarters, while officers from other Twin Cities area departments attended on an individual basis.

Pallbearers were former Benton Harbor Chief Merle McCarroll; Benton Harbor Capt. Harold Harris and Lt. Jack Weatherly; Benton township Capt. Paul Farris; Benton township Patrolman Roger Spencer, and Benton township Dispatcher Oliver Slater.

Mr. Willming was afflicted for several years with a heart ailment. He died Friday afternoon at Mercy hospital. Survivors were listed in this newspaper Saturday.

Henderson Rules Self Out As Mayor

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

Charles F. Henderson today took himself out of consideration as a candidate for mayor of Benton Harbor in event of recall of Charles F. Joseph.

Henderson said: "I am not and will not become a candidate for mayor of Benton Harbor. I will not participate in any recall or 'Clean Slate' group for or against Mayor Joseph."

Henderson left the door open for him to seek the Democratic nomination for 44th District state legislator. He said: "... I feel there are other political goals that I can help my community in."

He explained he was not making an announcement of legislative candidacy but continues to give it strong consideration. Henderson was the Democratic nominee in 1974 and lost a close race to incumbent Republican legislator Ray Martin.

The Benton Harbor recall committee announced March 10 that a city-wide survey showed Henderson as the most popular candidate for mayor if Joseph is recalled.

The recall committee has filed petitions for a recall election on Joseph four other members of the city commission.

Henderson, a Benton Harbor high school teacher, said today that recall is now up to the people.

"I do hope that the two groups that are involved will stop all the mudsludging and get down to the issues at hand and let the people make their choice."

Say Bones Belonged To Animal

Bones found Friday on youths on the Lake Michigan shoreline in Hagar township were determined to be remains of an animal, according to the state police post at Benton Harbor.

Sgt. Richard Zimmerman said Dr. Charles Boonstra, a pathologist, analyzed the bones at St. Joseph Memorial hospital and reported them to be "other than human" remains. Before the analysis, it wasn't known if the bones were human or animal.

The bones were found partially buried in a sand dune by Steven Dodge, 16, and Edward Snow, 18, of Lake Michigan beach.

Dad Dies Trying To Rescue Son

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A father died of smoke inhalation in a fire that swept through his mobile home Sunday, while trying to rescue his six-month-old son who was in critical condition today with smoke inhalation.

Berrien sheriff's deputies credited Mrs. Elizabeth Bauer, Berrien Springs, a registered nurse, with saving the baby's life by giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation at the scene and on the way to the hospital.

Reported in "critical" condition today at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, was Branden Ebbeskotte. His father, Harold Ebbeskotte, 27, of 301 Niles road, Berrien township, was pronounced dead on arrival at Berrien General.

The wife and mother, Mrs. Rowanna Ebbeskotte, 27, was not at home when the fire broke out shortly before 1 p.m.

Berrien Springs firemen said cause of the fire appeared to have been an explosion in the kitchen of the family's mobile home. Deputies said witnesses reported hearing an explosion just prior to seeing the fire. Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Deputies reported that Harold Ebbeskotte was next door at Fisherman's Haven Bait Shop when the fire broke out and rushed into the home. He was identified as the owner of the bait shop located on the east side of the St. Joseph river just below the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. dam on US-31-33.

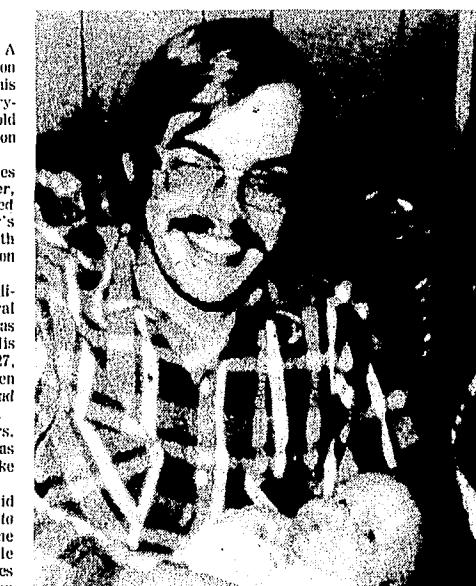

Deputies said Ebbeskotte was found in the hallway of the mobile home where he was overcome by smoke in the attempt to reach the infant in a rear bedroom. Volunteer Berrien Springs Fireman Robert Bauer carried the baby from the mobile home to where his wife waited to begin resuscitation.

Bauer said he made three trips into the smoke-choked home before finally locating the baby who had apparently fallen on blankets behind a bed on the floor. He estimated the baby had been in the burning home nearly half an hour before being located.

Deputy Jack Root, who drove the baby to the hospital in his patrol car, said in his report "If it were not for Mrs. Bauer the child would have died."

Bauer, 41, and Mrs. Bauer, 31, of 205 South Main street, said later "We're thankful we had the training to be able to do what we did. It's something anyone can do once they've been trained."

Mrs. Bauer said it was not the first time she has been called on to perform the lifesaving breathing technique. Although not employed as a nurse at the present time, she said she has worked in maternity wards and has given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation at the scene and on the way to hospital. (Staff photo)

FATHER DIES, SON RESCUED: Harold Ebbeskotte, 27, Berrien Springs, died Sunday attempting to rescue six-month-old son, Branden, when fire swept through their mobile home. Branden was reported in "critical" condition today at Berrien General hospital. A Berrien Springs fireman rescued Branden from fire.

LIFESAVING COUPLE: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bauer, 205 South Main street, Berrien Springs, were credited with saving life of six-month-old Branden Ebbeskotte Sunday when fire swept through trailer where he slept. Robert, 41, a Berrien Springs volunteer fireman, made three trips into mobile home and carried out baby. Wife Elizabeth, 31, a registered nurse, administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation at the scene and on the way to hospital. (Staff photo)

No Fire

Benton Harbor firemen Sunday investigated a smoke report at senior high school and said they found that a fire extinguisher had been emptied in two second floor corridors.

Firemen listed the cause as vandalism and reported the smoke to be fog from a carbon dioxide extinguisher. There was no fire. School personnel notified the fire department at 6:02 p.m.

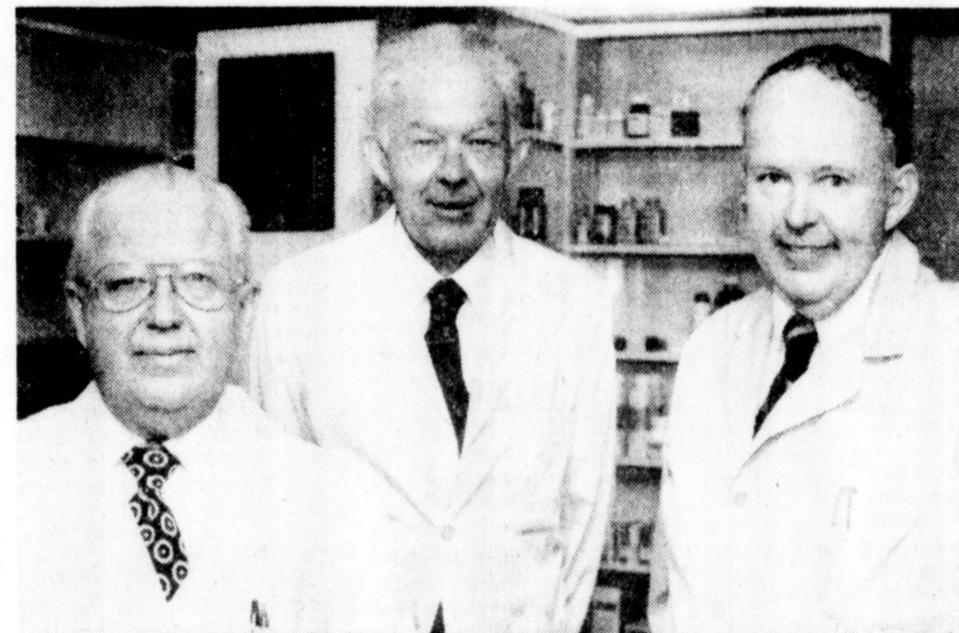

The Twin City Area NAACP contest was beginning in the main floor auditorium, and continued without interruption.

NEW DRUG STORE IN SOUTHTOWN: Gillespie Drug stores will open fourth outlet in the Twin Cities today in new building in the Southtown shopping center at 2845 Niles avenue, St. Joseph. Atty. Richard Insley, developer, said the new structure has 5,500 square feet of space. Atty. Thomas Adams Jr. has already occupied suite of offices in new building. Gillespie Drug stores have original store at 220 State street in St.

Joseph and two stores in Benton Harbor, at 325 Riverview drive and 858 Pipestone street. (Walter M. Booth photo)

106 YEARS OF PHARMACEUTICAL EXPERIENCE: Three Gillespie brothers, from left, Collins, Robert and William, have 106 years of pharmaceutical service, all in the Twin Cities. Collins Gillespie graduated from pharmacy school in 1931, Robert in 1941 and William in 1950. Their father, Frank Gillespie, purchased original Gillespie drug store at 220 State street in St. Joseph in April, 1905. There has been a drug store at that site for over 100 years. (Staff photo)

Henderson Rules Self Out As Mayor

City Editor

Charles F. Henderson today took himself out of consideration as a candidate for mayor of Benton Harbor in event of recall of Charles F. Joseph.

Henderson said: "I am not and will not become a candidate for mayor of Benton Harbor. I will not participate in any recall or 'Clean Slate' group for or against Mayor Joseph."

Henderson left the door open for him to seek the Democratic nomination for 44th District state legislator. He said: "... I feel there are other political goals that I can help my community in."

He explained he was not making an announcement of legislative candidacy but continues to give it strong consideration. Henderson was the Democratic nominee in 1974 and lost a close race to incumbent Republican legislator Ray Mittan.

The Benton Harbor recall committee announced March 10 that a city-wide survey showed Henderson as the most popular candidate for mayor if Joseph is recalled.

The recall committee has filed petitions for a recall election on Joseph four other members of the city commission.

Henderson, a Benton Harbor high school teacher, said today that recall is now up to the people.

"I do hope that the two groups that are involved will stop all the mudslinging and get down to the issues at hand and let the people make their choice."

Say Bones Belonged To Animal

Bones found Friday by two youths on the Lake Michigan shoreline in Hagar township were determined to be remains of an animal, according to the state police post at Benton Harbor.

Sgt. Richard Zimmerman said Dr. Charles Boonstra, a pathologist, analyzed the bones at St. Joseph Memorial hospital and reported them to be "other than human" remains. Before the analysis, it wasn't known if the bones were human or animal.

The bones were found partially buried in a sand dune by Steven Dodge, 16, and Edward Snow, 18, of Lake Michigan beach.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Ferris State College will get a supplementary appropriation of $862,000 under a bill signed into law Friday by Gov. William Milliken. Ferris will use the money to continue operations in its School of Allied Health.

Dad Dies Trying To Rescue Son

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A father died of smoke inhalation in a fire that swept through his mobile home Sunday, while trying to rescue his six-month-old son who was in critical condition today with smoke inhalation.

Berrien sheriff's deputies credited Mrs. Elizabeth Bauer, Berrien Springs, a registered nurse, with saving the baby's life by giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation at the scene and on the way to the hospital.

Reported in "critical" condition today at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, was Branden Ebbeskotte. His father, Harold Ebbeskotte, 27, of 301 Niles road, Berrien township, was pronounced dead on arrival at Berrien General.

The wife and mother, Mrs. Rowanna Ebbeskotte, 27, was not at home when the fire broke out shortly before 1 p.m.

Berrien Springs firemen said cause of the fire appeared to have been an explosion in the kitchen of the family's mobile home. Deputies said witnesses reported hearing an explosion just prior to seeing the fire. Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Deputies reported that Harold Ebbeskotte was next door at Fisherman's Haven Bait Shop when the fire broke out and rushed into the home. He was identified as the owner of the bait shop located on the east side of the St. Joseph river just below the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. dam on US-31-33.

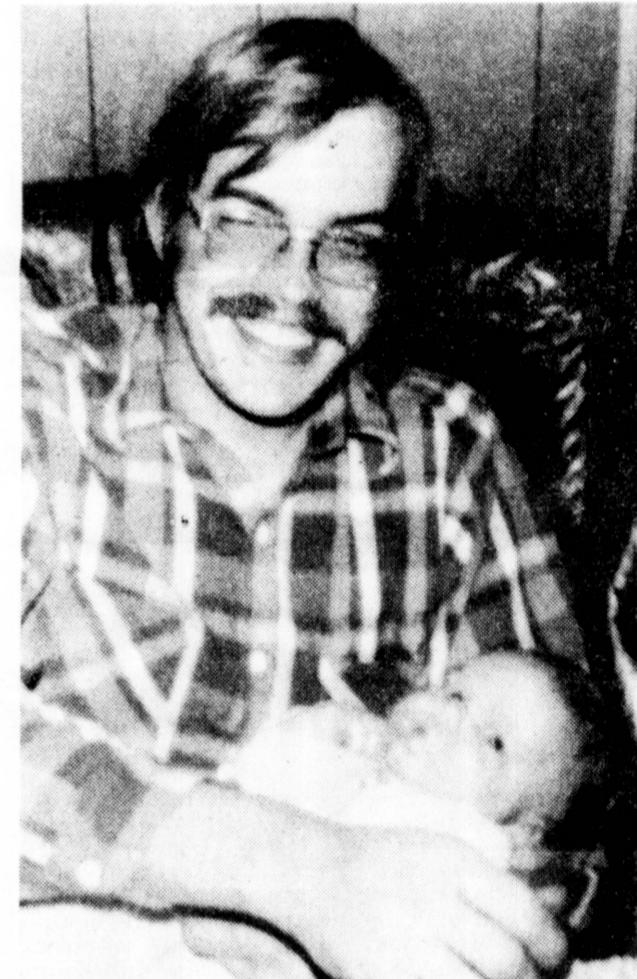

Deputies said Ebbeskotte was found in the hallway of the mobile home where he was overcome by smoke in the attempt to reach the infant in a rear bedroom. Volunteer Berrien Springs Fireman Robert Bauer carried the baby from the mobile home to where his wife waited to begin resuscitation.

Bauer said he made three trips into the smoke-choked home before finally locating the baby who had apparently fallen on blankets behind a bed on the floor. He estimated the baby had been in the burning home nearly half an hour before being located.

Deputy Jack Root, who drove the baby to the hospital in his patrol car, said in his report "If it were not for Mrs. Bauer the child would have died."

Bauer, 41, and Mrs. Bauer, 31, of 205 South Main street, said later "We're thankful we have had the training to be able to do what we did. It's something anyone can do once they've been trained."

Mrs. Bauer said it was not the first time she has been called on to perform the lifesaving breathing technique. Although not employed as a nurse at the present time, she said she has worked in maternity wards and has given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to babies at the scene and on the way to the hospital. FATHER DIES, SON RESCUED: Harold Ebbeskotte, 27, Berrien Springs, died Sunday attempting to rescue six-month-old son, Branden, when fire swept through their mobile home. Branden was reported in "critical" condition today at Berrien General hospital. A Berrien Springs fireman rescued Branden from fire.

LIFESAVING COUPLE: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bauer, 205 South Main street, Berrien Springs, were credited with saving life of six-month-old Branden Ebbeskotte Sunday when fire swept through trailer where he slept. Robert, 41, a Berrien Springs volunteer fireman, made three trips into mobile home and carried out baby. Wife Elizabeth, 31, a registered nurse, administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation at scene and on the way to the hospital. (Staff photo)

QUEEN'S COURT: New Miss NAACP's court includes, from left, Deborah Michell Joseph, 16, first runnerup; Sharon Griffin, 16, Miss Congeniality; and Rochell Buels, 16, second runnerup. The court and the new Miss NAACP, Sharon Ruth Madison, were chosen Sunday night in Benton Harbor. (Staff photo)

Michigan Council for the Arts is seeking Michigan residents, visual artists and craftsmen, to work in its Artists-In-Schools program during the school year beginning next fall.

Twelve wooden sticks
One cup miniature chocolate chips
Three tablespoons vegetable oil
Three-fourths cup chopped peanuts (optional)

Closing date for receipt of applications is April 25.

The Artists-In-Schools program operates in a number of selected school sites, public and non-public, grades kindergarten through 12, in the area of visual arts and crafts. It is anticipated that there will be five Michigan school districts involved during the 1976-77 school year.

According to MCA coordinator Donald Green, the purpose of the program is to put "real" artists and craftsmen into schools and thereby affect children, teachers, administrators, parents, and the artists.

Potential residents are selected by a panel appointed by the Michigan Council for the Arts and final decisions are made by the participating schools.

The program has two major sub-programs, the Full-Year Residency and the Visiting Artist.

In the Full-Year Residency each school district site has an artist or craftsman in residence for the entire school year. He or she is, by description, viewed not as a teacher or a half-time employee, but as a working resident artist, and receives a salary, studio space, and a materials budget. The schools also provide various types of services for the program, such as coordination, scheduling, etc.

The Visiting Artist sub-program is a supplement to the full-year residence. During the school year, each site with a resident artist receives visiting artists who come for one day to one week. The visiting artists receive fees for their work and the school sites supply materials and services.

The selection panel will choose a visiting artist "pool" for this program from among interested artists. Schools will then arrange visits by artists from the pool with whom they wish to work. Placement in the pool, however, will not constitute a guarantee that a school will schedule a particular artist for a visit.

Cut bananas into thirds; insert wooden stick into end of each banana section. Place on tray; cover and freeze several hours or overnight.

Two River Valley Students To Spend Summer Abroad

THREE OAKS — Vickie Koebel and Tammy Ponegalek have been selected to participate in the 1976 summer student abroad program by the Youth for Understanding committee of River Valley high school.

Miss Koebel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Koebel, Box 64, Three Oaks, will live with a host family in Germany.

Miss Ponegalek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Ponegalek, Box 390, Three Oaks, will reside with a host family in France.

The two students were selected by a committee composed of representatives from the faculty, administration and student body.

The students' trips abroad are partially financed through contributions by area organizations and interested individuals. The balance is paid by the students.

The project in the River Valley school district is sponsored by the Student Congress of the high school. The district has participated in the program for the past 10 years.

Another part of the program involves bringing students from other countries to live in the area and attend high school.

Anyone interested in providing a home for one of these students may contact Arlene Cotter at the high school for additional information.

When Miss Koebel and Miss Ponegalek return, they will be available to show slides and tell of their experiences living in a foreign country.

Tomorrow, representing the 50 states and the District of Columbia, with their faculty advisors, will be guests of General Mills on an educational tour of Washington, D.C., April 25-28.

Highlighting the tour will be the announcement of the 1976 national winner and three runners-up. Chosen on a basis of personal observation and interviews during the tour, plus state-level judging results, national winners' scholarships will be increased to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

To Host District Event

APRIL MEETING: Luncheon reservations are due April 16 for the spring meeting of the Southwest District of Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries which will be held Tuesday, April 27, at the original Berrien county courthouse in Berrien Springs. The luncheon will be held at Trinity Lutheran church, Berrien Springs. Preparing luncheon decorations are Mrs. Sigmund (Wanda) Jesse, left, and Mrs. David (Floris) Schug. (Staff photo)

Two River Valley Students To Spend Summer Abroad

THREE OAKS — Vickie Koebel and Tammy Ponegalek have been selected to participate in the 1976 summer student abroad program by the Youth for Understanding committee of River Valley high school.

Miss Koebel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Koebel, Box 64, Three Oaks, will live with a host family in Germany.

Miss Ponegalek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Ponegalek, Box 390, Three Oaks, will reside with a host family in France.

The two students were selected by a committee composed of representatives from the faculty, administration and student body.

The students' trips abroad are partially financed through contributions by area organizations and interested individuals. The balance is paid by the students.

The project in the River Valley school district is sponsored by the Student Congress of the high school. The district has participated in the program for the past 10 years.

Another part of the program involves bringing students from other countries to live in the area and attend high school.

Anyone interested in providing a home for one of these students may contact Arlene Cotter at the high school for additional information.

When Miss Koebel and Miss Ponegalek return, they will be available to show slides and tell of their experiences living in a foreign country.

Recap Of Children Survey

Dear Ann Landers: I was shocked when I read that 70 percent of the people who responded to your survey said they were sorry they had children. How in the world do you think this? — Stunned In San Jose

Dear Stunned: The best explanation appeared in a wire story by Seth Mydans. Here is an abbreviated version:

"When advice columnist Ann Landers asked her readers, 'If you had it to do over again, would you have children?' 70 percent said 'No.' Miss Landers said in a phone interview, 'Granted, the negatives have a stronger compulsion to write than the affirmatives; even so, I was amazed by the number of people who wrote to confess that having children was not worth the trouble.'

"A number of psychiatrists, equally surprised by the response, telephoned Miss Landers to ask what she made of it. She quoted Dr. Harsharan Sehdev, Director of the Children's Division of the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kansas. He said, 'The Landers letters appear to reflect the general changing trends and opinions of family systems and the place of children in our "hurries and society." He added, 'It is a myth that Americans love their children. We would like to believe it is true but such is not the case.' Dr. Sehdev cited a history of child labor, child abuse and the underfunding of children's aid programs.

"A Boston Globe newspaper columnist, Diana White, reacted to the Landers response saying, 'We seldom hear any parents we know speak out against having children, which is perfectly understandable. People don't like to talk about their mistakes.'

"Miss Landers said her negative mail fell roughly into three categories: letters from older parents whose children ignore them; younger people concerned about overpopulation; and parents with children who find parenthood interferes with their lifestyles.

"Among those letters Miss Landers ran in her column, 'Two Late For Tears,' a mother of two children under eight, in Tampa, wrote: 'I was an attractive, fulfilled career woman before I had these kids. Now I'm an exhausted, shrieking, nervous wreck. The children took all the romance out of our marriage. I'm too tired for sex, conversation or anything else.'

"Sad Story In New York," a 70-year-old mother of five, wrote, 'Not one of our children has given us any pleasure. God knows we did our best. But we were failures as parents and they are failures as people.'

"Miss Landers said one reason for the disillusionment may be that some people enter parenthood with unrealistic expectations. 'Everybody loves a cute little baby, but nobody wants a teenager who shapshirts or gets hooked on drugs.'

"And then," Miss Landers

added, 'when parents find themselves financially strapped with unexpected bills, are no longer able to take romantic vacations, and have to stay up all night with sick kids, they ask themselves, 'Who needed this?'

Seth Mydans recapped it very neatly, in my opinion.

CONFIDENTIAL to What's The Secret? It's no secret: The best way to feel fit and look well is to work at something you enjoy, eat a balanced diet, get plenty of rest and exercise and stay away from booze and cigarettes. Don't be like the 90-year-old man who moaned, "I feel rotten. If I had known I was going to live so long, I'd have taken better care of myself."

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teenage Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

You reset it for 6:30, at which time you throw your body on it and say, "I don't need you. I don't need anybody." Then you go back to sleep."

"I just happen to believe there is no virtue in being early. What time is it?"

"It's eight o'clock. You're supposed to be at work at eight."

"Yes. Lucky, I've got 30 minutes to spare."

I have a feeling I will go through life and never again hear The Star Spangled Banner.

Ask the Jacobys

A Pittsburgh reader wants to know if it is a misdeal when the dealer has a card left over at the end, and if it is not a misdeal, is it correct simply to give that card to the player who is one card short.

The answer is that it is a misdeal and the same dealer should redeal.

(For a copy of JACOBY MODERN, send $1 to: "Win at Bridge," c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.)

The third, physical therapy specifically adjusted to the needs of each patient, must be utilized.

Doctors are using a wide variety of new anti-inflammatory drugs, cortisone, gold injections, and some new experimental drugs to reduce the severity of the changes in the joints associated with rheumatoid arthritis.

The great strides made in modern medicine make me believe that solutions to the puzzle of rheumatoid arthritis may be on the horizon.

It is essential, therefore, that patients know a great deal about their condition if they are to follow the directions of their doctor and obtain some level of comfort.

Three important factors are involved in any well-established treatment program for rheumatoid arthritis.

The first, adequate rest, is most essential. Patients must learn to limit their activities and not to overextend their energies. Exhaustion is known to increase the distressing symptoms of this form of arthritis.

The second is the use of salicylates (as in aspirin). It is well known that this drug reduces inflammation and is of value in the control of pain of rheumatoid arthritis. The level of salicylates in the bloodstream should be studied so that the dosage can be adjusted to the special needs of the patient.

Dean Baker: 'Nonpolitical' To The Senate

EDITOR'S NOTE: Michigan voters later this year will be choosing a successor to retiring Sen. Philip Hart. The Associated Press has taken an early look at the persons hoping to succeed Hart. Here's a look at Deane Baker of Ann Arbor.

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
(First of a Series)

Deane Baker is trying to "disassociate myself in every way from the conventional politician" while running a U.S. Senate campaign he describes as "a pilgrimage."

Baker said he started organizing a campaign in January, 1974, because "I have a very serious concern about the long-term future of our country... I don't believe in the central government running the economy or people's lives."

As president of his own construction company, Baker, 53, said he hopes "to bring a problem-solving ability to government." His particular targets are federal spending and the "burden of bureaucracy" imposed on citizens and business.

Despite being active in Republican affairs since 1960 and claiming he was considered a GOP candidate for the Senate in both 1968 and 1970, Baker insists, "I consider myself not a politician."

That stance is based on this belief:

"People don't believe government is working and they are super-critical of those involved. People are looking for solutions. They are tired of rhetoric."

Baker's only public office has been as a member of the University of Michigan Board of Regents. He was elected in 1972, although he has been a delegate to party conventions for 15 years.

With a background as an Air Force pilot during both World War II and Korea, Baker is a strong supporter of national defense projects.

For example, when asked if the controversial Project Seafarer (a massive underground radio antenna to communicate with submarines) should be installed in the Upper Peninsula, Baker replied:

"I've taken the position several times that it should be judged on the national security of the United States. If Seafarer is absolutely required for the United States, it should be located wherever it would be most effective."

However, he acknowledged he is uncertain if the Navy has proposed a need for the project.

Baker opposes "the concept of forced busing" because, "It's a self-defeating kind of vehicle" triggering a flight to the suburbs. Yet, he noted he twice served a president of Detroit's Urban League and has built projects which house 507 Detroit inner-city families.

He would "take rather a hard line" in dealings with other nations. But when asked specifically about possible repeal of the U.S.-Canada auto trade treaty, he replied, "There's no clearcut answer. I think it's foolish to say you're going to do that and so."

Still, he said he basically supports "the good of the domestic industry" and wants to lessen bureaucracy's burden on it.

Foreign policy is of great concern to Baker. It was, however, important enough for him to spend more than three weeks in February and early March away from campaigning to visit China.

"Anybody who runs for public office has to have an understanding of foreign countries to the best degree they can," Baker insisted. He also spent three weeks last summer on visits to Moscow, Warsaw, Cairo, Athens, Tel Aviv and Rome. The trips were made at his own expense, he said.

Baker also pulls no punches in the area of federal spending.

"The only way you reduce spending is not to spend money," he insisted. "You just have to say we're going to limit spending... If you limit the amount people can spend, they don't spend it... The way you control spending is to limit the appropriation."

Asked about specific areas where spending could be cut,

Baker singled out "the food stamp business" on grounds

there has been "broad scale misrepresentation, if not fraud."

Rescued Miners Ready To Work

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — Two gold miners rescued 24 days after a cave-in, trapped them 185 feet below the surface were declared "fit as a fiddle" today and said they wanted to go back to work in the shafts.

But doctors ordered rest for Manuel "Nilo" Chatto, 22, and Geronimo Acot, 28, who hid their eyes behind dark glasses as they saw the sunlight this morning for the first time since March 4. The doctors said they found some skin rash but no other evidence of ailments during initial examinations.

Chatto and Acot — who said they would be ready to go back to work Tuesday — were removed late Sunday from the Lepanto Mine on Mindanao Island, 490 miles south of Manila. The bodies of three other men who had been entombed with them were also taken out.

A Ford spokesman said operations at the two plants probably would remain shut down for a while, even if the tentative agreement is approved today.

Details of the new pact were not disclosed, pending a ratification vote on the agreement.

DEANE BAKER
'Not a politician'

Dean Baker: 'Nonpolitical' To The Senate

EDITOR'S NOTE: Michigan voters later this year will be choosing a successor to retiring Sen. Philip Hart. The Associated Press has taken an early look at the persons hoping to succeed Hart. Here's a look at Deane Baker of Ann Arbor.

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
(First of a Series)

Deane Baker is trying to "disassociate myself in every way from the conventional politician" while running a U.S. Senate campaign he describes as "a pilgrimage."

Baker said he started organizing a campaign in January, 1974, because "I have a very serious concern about the long-term future of our country... I don't believe in the central government running the economy or people's lives."

As president of his own construction company, Baker, 53, said he hopes "to bring a problem-solving ability to government." His particular targets are federal spending and the "burden of bureaucracy" imposed on citizens and business.

Despite being active in several times that it should be judged on the national security of the United States. If Seafarer is absolutely required for the United States, it should be located wherever it would be most effective."

However, he acknowledged he is uncertain if the Navy has proved a need for the project.

Baker opposes "the concept of forced busing" because "it's a self-defeating kind of vehicle" triggering a flight to the suburbs. Yet, he noted he twice served a president of Detroit's Urban League and has built projects which house 507 Detroit inner-city families.

He would "take rather a hard line" in dealings with other nations. But when asked specifically about possible repeal of the U.S.-Canada auto trade treaty, he replied, "There's no clearcut answer. I think it's foolish to say you're going to do this and so."

Still, he said he basically supports "the good of the domestic industry" and wants to lessen bureaucracy's burden on it.

Asked about specific areas where spending could be cut, Baker singled out "the food stamp business" on grounds there has been "broad scale misrepresentation, if not fraud."

Operations have been suspended this week and some 5,175 workers have been laid off at two assembly plants, in Dearborn and Metuchen, N.J., because of the Sterling Heights strike.

A Ford spokesman said operations at the two plants probably would remain shut down for a while, even if the tentative agreement is approved today.

Ford Union Will Vote On Accord

DETROIT (AP) — A tentative settlement was reached late Sunday night in a five-day-old strike at a Ford Motor Co. axle plant, according to officials of United Auto Workers Local 228.

The 6,100 union members were scheduled to vote on the agreement this afternoon.

The workers struck the Sterling Heights plant Wednesday in a dispute over health and safety grievances. The strike threatened to shut all of Ford's domestic plants because of a shortage of parts produced at the strikebound plant.

in that program." He cited instances where college students have obtained the stamps.

Baker also said during a telephone interview he would work to roll back the congressional pay increase which passed the House 214 to 213 last July.

A fervent backer of President Ford, Baker said he offered a resolution of support last summer that the state GOP adopted unanimously.

As head of a firm that has handled industrial and hotel construction worth millions, Baker is reluctant to discuss his exact financial status because of "a very real risk of terrorist activity in Michigan and in the country."

Fever Grows To Divide Teeming Los Angeles County

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Secession fever is gripping the most populous county in the United States.

Residents of its many scattered communities, complaining of neglect, isolation from the seat of power and burdensome taxes, are saying they want to break up Los Angeles County, home of 7.3 million people.

"There are 78 cities in Los Angeles County and an overlay of county government of mammoth proportions," said Jack Baum, who heads a committee looking into secession of the residential-minded San Fernando Valley. "What we have now is government by crisis."

Proponents say the county has become unmanageable and that its breakup into smaller counties is inevitable. Talk of secession has been going on for years, but it is finally being turned into action.

The Santa Clarita Valley, a farming area in the northwest corner of the county, has taken the first step toward breaking away and forming Canyon County. Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. signed a bill in February laying the groundwork for the proposed 66,000-resident county.

A five-member commission, yet to be appointed by Brown, will make a six-month study for submission to county voters.

"We're completely separated geographically from Los Angeles County," said Daniel Hon, chairman of the Canyon County Formation Committee. "We're surrounded by mountains on all sides. It's 40 miles to the county seat (Los Angeles). It's even in a different telephone area code."

The Santa Clarita Valley is not alone in its desire for secession. The sprawling San Gabriel Valley, including Pasadena and more than a dozen smaller communities, wants to form its own county. So does the South Bay area, extending south from Los Angeles along the coast.

The San Fernando Valley wants to secede from both the county and the city of Los Angeles and form a city-county government. The city of Los Angeles, meanwhile, is also studying formation of a city-county. San Francisco now has the only city-county government in California.

"The breakup is inevitable," said Louis T. Gilbertson, mayor of Temple City and leader of the San Gabriel Valley secessionists.

Los Angeles County, with 4,060 square miles, stretches from the ocean to the Mojave Desert and is crisscrossed by mountain ranges that slice it up into isolated valleys. It is larger than Delaware and Rhode Island and nearly the size of Connecticut. Its population is larger than all but six states. Its budget of $3 billion exceeds that of 30 other states. Yet it is governed by only five men, a board of supervisors with the power of executive and legislative decisions.

In contrast, New York City has five counties within its borders.

Some urban experts say part of New York City's financial plight can be blamed on the city's inability to tax the wealthier suburbs just outside its borders and that a regional government such as Los Angeles County is needed.

But some Californians feel the county has grown too large and undemocratic.

"We have five supervisors each with a constituency of approximately 1.4 million people," said Gilbertson. "That's more than most U.S. senators represent. Yet this is a local form of government. I think it's unreasonable to expect them to be responsive to a constituency that large."

Baxter Ward, chairman of the county Board of Supervisors, declined comment on secession. In the past he has said it would be "treasonable" for him to support splitting up the county. The Santa Clarita Valley is among the areas he represents.

Hon said, "We've seen our supervisor probably four or five times a year since he was elected in 1972. And that is not to demean Mr. Ward. He represents more people than the states of Utah or Wyoming. ... He has a totally, humanly impossible job."

Hon contends the area's isolation has resulted in "monumental goofs." "We ended up with houses on top of a mesa that has only one two-lane road in and out," he said. "I have seen that mesa ringed with fire, people evacuating and fire trucks stymied in trying to get in."

Hon, a lawyer, said he ran up a $5.30 long-distance telephone bill calling county bureaucrats to get a death certificate for a widowed client.

"I was shunted off to different people 13 times," he said.

If the San Fernando Valley becomes a separate city, its 1.2 million population will make it the sixth largest city in the United States.

"We don't feel we get enough police and fire protection and other city services for the tax dollars we pay," said Baum, who heads the Committee Investigating Valley Independent City-County.

Baum estimates a city-county consolidation would save Valley taxpayers $170 million a year, but a county official said a breakaway county could find its taxes going up instead of down. He cited an initial investment in county buildings and personnel. Secession requires 25 per cent of area's registered voters to sign a petition calling on the governor to appoint the five-member commission, whose findings are submitted to a countywide vote. A majority of the voters in both the proposed county and the existing county must approve.

SPRING SPECTACULAR: Whistling swans, part of an estimated 100,000 waterfowl, are resting at the Fish Point Wildlife Sanctuary in Michigan on their spring migration north. The whistling swans, geese and ducks are expected to provide area residents with a "spring spectacular" for a week to 10 days. (AP Wirephoto)

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, March 29, the 89th day of 1976. There are 277 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1867, the Act of Confederation was passed by the British Parliament, creating the Dominion of Canada.

On this date:

In 1632, French and English claims in America were divided by the Treaty of St. Germain.

In 1790, the 10th American president, John Tyler, was born in Charles City County, Va.

In 1847, American forces under General Winfield Scott occupied Vera Cruz, Mexico.

In 1943, during World War II, meat rationing began in the United States.

In 1967, France launched its first nuclear submarine.

In 1973, the last American troops left South Vietnam, ending the direct military role of the United States in the Vietnamese War.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Communist party called for better relations with mainland China and the United States but said both countries would have to change their policies.

Five years ago: A court-martial jury convicted Lieutenant William Calley of premeditated murder of 22 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

One year ago: An American airlift of refugees from Da Nang was halted as enemy forces shelled the airport.

Today's birthdays: Entertainer Pearl Bailey is 58. Former Democratic Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota is 60.

Thought for today: We think according to nature. We speak according to rules. We act according to custom. — Francis Bacon, English writer, 1561-1626.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General George Washington put Major General Israel Putnam in command of Continental forces in New York and directed him to strengthen defenses of New York City against an expected British attack.

Subsurface Heat Has Possibilities

DENVER (AP) — Geothermal energy, the unleashing of heat in the earth's interior, is considered a potentially feasible means of supplementing other forms of electric generation, particularly on a local scale.

Arraignment Patty In LA Today

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Patricia Hearst will be whisked to Los Angeles today for arraignment on state charges of kidnap, robbery and assault, then quickly returned to her jail cell here, sources close to the family say.

To help insure security, the trip was cloaked in secrecy. Miss Hearst, now a convicted bank robber, was to be transported to Los Angeles by U.S. marshals and brought back the same day to her cell in the San Mateo County Jail, 25 miles south of San Francisco.

Meanwhile, a copywright story to be published in Rolling Stone magazine reported that Miss Hearst had split with Symbionese Liberation Army "soldiers" William and Emily Harris and had planned shortly before her Sept. 18, 1975, arrest to flee with Steve Soliah to East Coast. Miss Hearst and Soliah were supposed to leave San Francisco Oct. 1, 1975, and planned to work as community organizers in Boston, the Rolling Stone article says. Shown, from left, are: Steve Soliah, Patricia Hearst, Emily Harris and William Harris. (AP Wirephoto)

It's Lovely Weather For Allergies!

The major problem with regard to allergies, says Dr. Ackerman, "is oversimplification. True, the symptoms of an allergic attack are generally recognizable: 'The itchy eyes, throat tickle, clogged ears and of course the runny nose, sneezing and stuffed up condition.'

Add these Dr. Vince Ackerman miseries to you have a ripe case of allergy:

In a statement recently released, Dr. Vince Ackerman local Doctor of Chiropractic, has shed light on the allergy problem here in the Twin City Area.

Dr. Ackerman tells of one of his many allergy patients, an advertising salesman, who characterized his condition with the following example: "I've been sneezing through 31 years and I'm used to it. But frankly, I can't be forever blowing my nose through sales presentations and hope to make a living."

"But let's get back to the oversimplification," says Dr. Ackerman. "An allergy attack isn't just a matter of getting an overdose of pollen or dust. Rather, there are several factors involved: emotional stress or business or home pressures; an infection, maybe one that's accelerated by the attack; the diet; a person's physical condition...for instance, the lack of proper rest can magnify that pollen many times over. Now, of the factors involved in an allergic attack," says Dr. Ackerman, "by far the most important is the one that relates to the nervous system. Purely and simply, allergies are caused by poor functioning of the nervous system. It works like this," he says. "Nerves are pinched by bone as they leave the spinal cord and spread throughout the body. This reduces the nerve impulses from the brain and the affected parts of the body are unable to do their usual job. It's then that allergies develop."

Senate Takes Up Sea Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress this week takes up legislation that would extend U.S. fishing jurisdiction to 200 miles at sea and set up a system of no-fault auto insurance.

The Senate today takes up a compromise 200-mile-limit bill that would be effective March 1, 1977. The measure would limit the catch of commercial species of fish, with priority given to U.S. fishermen.

Permits for foreign fishing within the 200-mile zone would be denied unless a surplus is determined to exist beyond the capacity of the U.S. fishing fleet.

The Ford administration has opposed the unilateral U.S. declaration of a 200-mile zone while negotiations continue for an international treaty defining a limit. The present U.S. limit is 12 miles.

In a compromise with the White House, congressional sponsors of the legislation agreed to delay enforcement until next March 1 to allow more time for agreement within the 144-nation Law of the Sea Conference under United Nations sponsorship.

Meanwhile, the House begins debate Tuesday on no-fault automobile insurance, focusing on a far-reaching bill that would require the states to adopt such a system. The bill is being pushed by liberals and several big insurance companies but opposed by trial lawyers. The House version is pending in the Commerce Committee.

The aim of no-fault is to guarantee that any victim of a traffic accident or the victim's survivors is quickly compensated for injuries or death. The victim's insurance company pays the sums, rather than the present system of determining whether another person is at fault.

The present fault system often requires years — and thousands of dollars in legal expenses — to settle a claim.

The House is to act Tuesday on a bill lifting the 37-year-old Hatch Act ban on participation by federal employees in partisan politics.

Will you be out of town next Monday?

Next Monday, April 5th, between 7:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m., St. Joseph's polling places will be open for the regular city election. Included on the ballot will a proposition to amend the city charter to allow a new general tax ceiling of 20 mills rather than the existing 13.9.

This Committee urgently asks that you vote YES! A YES vote will raise the Tax limit to 20 mills — but not the tax. The City Commission is on record that this year's tax will not be raised more than one mill!! The 20 mill ceiling is meant only to protect our taxing structure in the years to come.

Your YES vote will mean your tax will increase only $10.00 if your home is assessed at $10,000 value ($15.00 if assessed at $15,000, etc.). But your YES vote is the only currently available means to keep St. Joe a good place to live; to insure that essential housekeeping services continue. Inflation has devastated our city's finances. Street lighting costs, park maintenance, gasoline for snow-plows, police and fire vehicles — everything it takes to keep a city in order costs much, much more today.

Your Citizen's For A Better St. Joseph urges your YES vote on this critical issue.

If you must be out of town on April 5th, please be sure — this week — to pick up an absentee ballot at City Hall. Then,

Hurts Seven

DOWAGIAC — An eight-year-old boy was hospitalized last night following a 9:25 p.m. car-truck collision on Rudy's road about one-quarter mile north of the city limits, according to Dowagiac police.

Six other people were taken to Lee Memorial hospital and released after observation or treatment, the hospital said.

The boy, Clifton Wilson, was listed in good condition this morning at Lee Memorial. Police said he was a passenger in a car driven by his mother, Mrs. Jerry Lynn Wilson, 31, 118 Clyborn street, Dowagiac.

Mrs. Wilson and five other children in the car ranging in age from 9 to 17 were released from the hospital.

Police said the southbound car struck a semi truck pulling out of the Sundstrand Heat Transfer corporation parking lot. The truck driver, Ray Hippenstein, 34, 402 Green street, Dowagiac, was not injured. No tickets were issued, officers said.

The other children were identified as Deborah Yeager, 17, David Turnbow, 16, and three Wilson brothers, Larry, 15, Harold, 10, and Edward 9.

Man Beaten

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Police here said they arrested two men last night and a third is being sought after a tavern patron was beaten with a pool stick when he came to the aid of the owner in a scuffle.

Lodged in the Berrien county jail were brothers, Feliciano Saenz, 31, of 517 North Main street, Berrien Springs, and Robert Senz, 17, 210 South Mary street, Hartford. Police said both were charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

The beating victim, J.T. Mabry, 28, was treated and released from Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, for cuts on his head, arms and back.

Arrested

NEW BUFFALO — State police at New Buffalo said they arrested two Flint-area men here yesterday morning after a short high-speed chase ended when the auto they were riding in turned down a dead end street.

Police said the chase followed a report from a Union Pier service station that the driver of a car had failed to pay for $8.40 worth of gasoline.

Lodged in the Berrien county jail on charges of possession of marijuana and reckless driving was a man identified by police as the driver of the car, Kevin Housler, 20, of Flint. A passenger, and the car's owner, Terence Easton, 19, of Horner, was arrested on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Troopers said warrants charging both men with failure to pay will also be sought from the Berrien county prosecutor's office this morning.

Police said the chase on US-12 in New Buffalo began shortly after 8:30 a.m. yesterday when an attendant from the Stuckey's service station and restaurant, Town Line road, Union Pier, came to the state police post here.

The Bauers are no strangers to emergencies. Bauer said he has worked for an ambulance service for Berrien Springs. He said the village recently signed a contract with Action Ambulance service. "We carry first aid equipment in our car and pickup and try to assist wherever we can."

Ebbeskott's death was the fourth attributed to fires in Berrien county this year. Six people died as the result of fires in the county in 1975.

Mr. Ebbeskott was born May 8, 1949, in Lima, Ohio, and had resided in the area since September, 1975, coming from Fort Wayne, Ind. Mr. Ebbeskott was a member of the Berrien Springs Jaycees.

Surviving are his widow Rowanna, whom he married on Oct. 13, 1973, in Fort Wayne; the son, Branden; and his parents, Melvin and Helen Ebbeskott, of Delphos, Ohio. Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. William (Karen) Eckels, Louise Ebbeskott and Janet Ebbeskott, all of Ohio; and five brothers, Vince, Nashville, Tenn.; Leonard, Norbert, Keith and Louis, all of Ohio.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in McLaughlin funeral home, Berrien Springs, where friends may call. Burial will be in Rose Hill cemetery.

Memorials may be made to J. S. Burns Awareness Program, Ann Arbor.

HOUSE BURNS DOWN: Flames boil out of house 5856 Paw Paw Lake road, Coloma, in blaze reported at 2:38 a.m. today. House is owned by Ronald Sims of Watervliet and was previously damaged by March 13 blaze that Sgt. Robert Ruohonen of state fire marshal's office in Paw Paw described as arson. In that earlier fire, Coloma firemen found container of flammable liquid and paper-matchbook fuse in kitchen and rolls of tar paper in two rooms adjacent to kitchen. Ruohonen said his office will investigate this morning's fire, too. There have been no arrests in connection with earlier fire. Coloma firemen said they could see flames from two miles away today as they responded to alarm.

Rat On 'Death Row'

A baby rat has been "jailed" at the Benton township police station as an assault suspect. Police said the tiny rodent is accused of biting the finger of Aubrey Gunn, 7, of 2088 East Empire avenue, lot 130. Aubrey reportedly encountered the rat near mailboxes by his home Friday and was bitten after picking it up. The bite was reported minor, but rat will be in custody for 10 days to determine if it has rabies. The department said an officer found a small double cage, and the rat is on a "bread-and-water" diet. One officer called it "death row" because rat will be disposed of after the check period.

Postal Service Monopoly Under Increasing Pressure

By JEFFREY MILLS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As controversy continues over the Postal Service's finances and operations, proposals for stripping the agency of its monopoly on first-class mail are gaining favor.

Federal law now protects the Postal Service from competition in delivering first-class mail, which accounts for 57.5 percent of all mail, by forbidding anyone from carrying first-class mail for a profit.

Repeal of the monopoly laws would "let the forces of competition provide this country with the kind of efficient mail service it needs and deserves," said

Sen. James L. Buckley, Con-R-N.Y.

Buckley introduced a bill earlier this month to abolish the postal monopoly. Similar legislation has been sponsored in the House by Rep. Bill Archer, R-Tex.

Ford administration officials have said that "permitting competition to the Postal Service's first-class service probably would result in significant benefits to the economy and to the mail user."

The White House has urged the independent Postal Rate Commission to convene a symposium of economic and postal experts to discuss the effects of the monopoly. The commission is expected to decide within a few weeks whether it has jurisdiction over the Postal Service regulations that put the monopoly laws into effect.

Even supporters of the postal monopoly concede that the agency's recent service cuts are jeopardizing the monopoly status. One supporter, Chairman James M. Hanley, D-N.Y., of the House Postal Service subcommittee, said Friday, "The more you cut service, the harder it is to deny private enterprise the right to deliver mail."

The Postal Service vigorously opposes repeal of the monopoly laws. At the same time, the service has made some service cuts to reduce costs and has threatened other cutbacks. The service anticipates a record deficit of $1.5 billion this fiscal year despite a federal subsidy of about the same amount.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Butler says doing away with the postal monopoly would be another financial blow to the agency. The Postal Service says private companies would take away its most profitable business, letter mail within cities, and the agency would need massive government subsidies to provide service to its remaining customers, those in thinly populated areas.

However, the President's Council on Wage and Price Stability has said competition would "retard or reverse the upward rush of postal rates" and lead to more prompt and efficient mail delivery.

The company will confer with the Internal Revenue Service with respect to prior federal income tax returns (1971-74)," Parfet said.

The board chairman refused to identify the countries to which the payments were made. The firm refused to say if similar payments were made before 1971.

Parfet said "certain directors associated with international operations approved or had knowledge of the payments."

Parfet said the managers of some Upjohn subsidiaries "felt the payments were necessary to compete successfully for government business in countries where common and longstanding business customs and practices dictated."

The money was paid to "certain third parties" representing the governments. He said the third parties then paid the money to foreign government employees.

"While those payments may have seemed necessary in the competitive climate of countries whose trade customs differ markedly from those of the United States, it is beyond question that they are a demoralizing cost of business," the board chairman said. "Now for Upjohn and other U.S. firms, these practices must cease." In Washington, Rep. Garry Brown, R-Mich., who represents the district where Upjohn is headquartered, said, "I deplore the fact that this kind of activity has become an almost essential aspect of doing business internationally, or at least as far as many countries are concerned."

It was not clear from the filing with the SEC whether any disciplinary action is being taken against Upjohn executives who approved the payments.

The details of fund transfers from corporate accounts to the government employees also was not spelled out in the report.

Upjohn To Tell IRS Of Payments

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — The Upjohn Co. said Saturday it will inform the Internal Revenue Service about $2.71 million the pharmaceutical firm paid to employees of 22 foreign governments, mostly through intermediaries, between 1971 and 1975.

The company revealed the payments Friday in a report filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington.

R. T. Parfet Jr., Upjohn chairman and chief executive officer, said the payments were "demeaning" and have been stopped. Parfet said the company's top officers first discovered the payments two months ago and that an internal probe which started at that time will continue.

Parfet said Upjohn has notified the IRS and has taken steps to assure that no improper U.S. tax deductions will result for 1975 tax returns in connection with the payments.

"The company will confer with the Internal Revenue Service with respect to prior federal income tax returns (1971-74)," Parfet said.

The board chairman refused to identify the countries to which the payments were made. The firm refused to say if similar payments were made before 1971.

APOPKA, Fla. (AP) — Caravans of trucks, ranging from pickups to tractor trailers, roll out of this small Central Florida town each day carrying the non-stop harvest of the nation's fastest growing agricultural crop: potted house plants.

"When people talk about Florida, they usually talk about tourism or citrus, but the Florida nursery industry is the big success story of not only the state but the entire nation," says Charles Dunn, executive vice president of the Florida Nurseries and Growers Association.

In the last three years, wholesale sales of Florida-grown house plants have increased 100 per cent to $87.3 million in 1975, and University of Florida agriculture researchers have predicted a growth rate of 138 per cent by 1985.

Florida currently produces 82 percent of all the house plants grown in the United States, and about two-thirds of the Sunshine State crop is centered around Apopka, a garden-variety small town about 10 miles north of Orlando.

"No matter where you live, in a New York City apartment or a Dallas suburb, the odds are good that the philodendron on your coffee table came from right here," said Cecil Rogers, the nursery association's representative in Apopka.

From the small grower to the giant corporation, the sale of Florida-grown plants have expanded at a rate that would turn any Wall Street investor green with envy.

Says Soviets

More Powerful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger says Americans should face up to the hard realities of increasing Soviet power and look beyond "soothing stories" which obscure trends pointing to a serious decline in U.S. military strength.

"As a nation we are, once again, averting our gaze, burying our heads in the sand," Schlesinger said.

Green Thumb Crop, the largest nursery operation in the state, reported sales of $25 million in 1974 and $41 million in 1975.

"I guess you could call business good," said Green Thumb president Bob Stutzman, who recently moved from exclusively wholesale to retail sales with a marketing scheme based on the home parties used by merchants of plastic food containers.

While Green Thumb has prospered from a big investment in automation, the small, family-run nurseries that dot the back roads around Apopka also have flourished.

"I stay sold out," said Munny Allen, the owner and operator — along with his wife and three sons — of Bay Hill Nursery. "I have for several years. I do in excess of $50,000 in sales a year, but couldn't increase that if I wanted to."

The large nurseries like Green Thumb market their plants through sophisticated distribution centers using fleets of trucks, but many of the small operations sell to youths who drive to Florida in pickup trucks in an effort to turn a profit by selling to retail plant shops which are mushrooming all across the nation.

"They come down here in old trucks and cars and buy as many plants as they can haul back to places like Chicago," said Rogers.

The profits from the retail sale of house plants are massive and increasing. Industry sources say the average markup from wholesale to retail is about 400 per cent.

While the Apopka area accounted for $54.4 million in wholesale sales last year, South Florida also comes in for a large share of the market with 1975 sales totaling $27.2 million. Nurseries on the Gulf Coast and scattered operations in North Florida produced $5.4 million worth of plants in 1975.

Apopka-area growers, whose nurseries cover about 400 acres, devote most of their energies to small plants such as the popular philodendron, dracaena and schefflera.

South Florida nurseries grow mostly larger plants like palms, ficus and cane varieties.

Florida nurserymen attribute the spiraling popularity of house plants to a desire by Americans to retain something of their forefathers' attachment to the soil.

"People have discovered they just can't stand bare walls, concrete and asphalt without greenery to bring them back to nature," said Dunn. "Man has a psychological relationship with his environment."

"Psychologists tell us that's part of the stability and balance of man. As people move into condominiums and apartments, they buy plants not only because they add beauty to a home but also they are something people can relate to."

Wally Gammel, who runs a large Miami nursery, said he believes the "flower children" movement of the 1960s also played a large part in the new popularity of plants.

"The hippies actually made us more aware of the values of the quality of life as opposed to just making dollars," Gammel said. "It takes more than dollars to make a happy person."

But in the final analysis, said Rogers, people simply like to observe the life cycle of plants.

"A plant is a living thing that people can associate with," he said. "It's like a baby. You take care of it and watch it grow. It gives you pleasure."

Files Tell Of FBI Break-Ins

By MARGARET GENTRY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In predawn darkness on a deserted New York City street, an FBI agent broke into an office, rifled the files, photographed several hundred pages and left as stealthily as he had come.

That scene happened as often as twice a month from 1960 to 1966 as FBI agents carried out 92 burglaries at the New York offices of the Socialist Workers party and the Young Socialist Alliance.

Two other burglaries in 1960 were conducted at the Los Angeles home of a Socialist Workers party leader and the Hamden, Conn., home of a man the FBI said was linked to the party.

The burglaries were described in 354 pages of FBI files obtained by the party in its $27-million suit accusing the FBI and other government agencies of unconstitutional harassment of legal political activities.

"These documents show an outrageous series of violations of the law by the FBI," said Peter Camejo, the Socialist Workers presidential candidate. The party is an old-line Socialist organization whose leaders advocate nonviolent means to attain Socialist goals.

A former FBI intelligence official, William C. Sullivan, also has said it is illegal for the FBI to use burglaries as a means of gathering intelligence. Referring to burglaries as "black bag jobs," Sullivan wrote in an internal memo in July 1966, "We do not obtain authorization for 'black bag' jobs outside the bureau. Such technique involves trespass and is clearly illegal; therefore, it would be impossible to obtain any legal sanction for it."

An FBI spokesman declined Sunday to comment on the disclosures.

NEW FLORIDA BOOM

House Plant Craze Soars

By G. MICHAEL HARMON

APOPKA, Fla. (AP) — Caravans of trucks, ranging from pickups to tractor trailers, roll out of this small Central Florida town each day carrying the non-stop harvest of the nation's fastest growing agricultural crop: potted house plants.

"When people talk about Florida, they usually talk about tourism or citrus, but the Florida nursery industry is the big success story of not only the state but the entire nation," says Charles Dunn, executive vice president of the Florida Nurseries and Growers Association.

In the last three years, wholesale sales of Florida-grown house plants have increased 100 per cent to $87.3 million in 1975, and University of Florida agriculture researchers have predicted a growth rate of 138 per cent by 1985.

All Japan Is In Turmoil Over Lockheed

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — It is called the Lockheed Incident here and it has precipitated one of the gravest political and moral crises in Japan since the military defeat of World War II and the spiritual questioning that followed.

Because of it, the pro-American conservative Liberal-Democratic party of Prime Minister Takeo Miki is in political jeopardy, faced with the possibility of defeat in general elections this year for the first time in decades.

In the long term its impact may go even deeper. Pouring light on unsavory corners the 112 million Japanese have long passed by with averted eyes, the incident has created doubts about long-accepted attitudes, ways of life, as well as the workings of democracy.

What touched off these repercussions was the disclosure on Feb. 4 by the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on multinational corporations that the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. had, since 1968, paid $12.3 million in agent fees in Japan, including "bribes and questionable political contributions."

Still more startling was testimony that Yoshio Kodama,

65, once jailed as a war crimes suspect, had received $7 million of the amount, and that about $2 million went to government officials to pave the way for large sales of Lockheed planes.

From the day it broke, the Lockheed case has dominated the front pages of Japanese newspapers and taken the first spot in radio and television reports. Millions followed televised parliamentary hearings during which Kenji Osame, 50, multimillionaire friend and business associate of former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, and executives of the Marubeni Corp., another Lockheed agent and the nation's third largest trading company, took the stand to deny complicity.

Kodama, described by his doctor as too ill to testify, was besieged in his palatial home by hundreds of angry Japanese and turned away on a stretcher by more than a thousand people who sought to enter a hospital for special treatment.

In the nation, the mood has been indignant, in some cases ugly. More than 20,000 workers, leftist politicians and students paraded through Tokyo's streets demanding a full investigation and disclosure of the names of the politicos who were allegedly bribed.

Taxpayers have written letters in newspapers saying they would not pay their taxes after Kodama was indicted for evading millions of dollars in taxation.

This indictment has been the only one so far to result from police and tax agency investigations into the Lockheed incident.

On March 22, a young Japanese crashed his light plane into Kodama's home. The pilot was killed but Kodama escaped injury.

Makoto Ichikawa, chairman of the multimillion-member Silya, the General Trade Council of Trade Unions, accused the government, in collusion with the United States government, of "trying to conceal the secret of the scandal by picking a few persons as scapegoats."

He warned: "The future for democracy in Japan is hopeless."

if the scandal is smothered. The worst can be avoided if the people's voice is heeded and a thorough investigation is carried out."

The nine-million circulation newspaper Yomiuri said the people's burning indignation is not confined to the colossal sums involved ... and the other shady Lockheed payments" or the suspicion that high-ranking government officials were bribed by Kodama.

Their anger and distrust is aimed at the very fact that the nation's political world and big business as a whole have grown so corrupt and demoralized as to produce such deviant people, and allow them to run rampant as they enrich themselves by committing such crimes," it said.

In all the furor, almost no one has blamed the United States for the Lockheed scandal and nearly everyone says U.S. Japan relations have not been impaired.

Except for Kodama and his group, the Japanese people feel that it was a good thing the United States exposed this wrong doing, says Tokuma Utsunomiya, one of the leaders of the Liberal-Democratic party.

"We are grateful and happy. And the feeling is that the United States could do it only because it is a democratic country. The whole thing has persuaded Japanese intellectuals to take a fresh new look at American democracy."

The existence of the influence peddlers called "Kurumaku" because they operate behind a black curtain of secrecy has now been vividly disclosed for the Japanese. They have been uncomfortably aware of them, and of the related "Yakuza," or organized crime gangs which have fingers in many business pies, for nearly a century but have generally turned a blind eye.

"Kurumaku like Kodama are everywhere," said a 60-year-old butcher. "We can't do anything about it."

"It's Japanese society," added a 44-year-old painter.

Gift-giving has been part of Japanese society. Within limits it smooths many of the rough spots of life, improving relations between friends, associates and neighbors.

POLITICAL CRISIS: Lockheed payoff scandal has precipitated political crisis that could jeopardize government of Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Miki, left. Among items that shocked Japanese public was revelation that Yoshio Kodama, right, had received about $7 million of a total $12.3 million spent by Lockheed as agent fees. (AP Wirephoto)

Woman Owns 5,271 Pairs Of Earrings

By YOLANDA ALVARADO

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — When Goldie Yeoman, 67, says, something like "Let me tell you about the birds and the bees and the flowers and the trees and the moon up above," she's talking earrings.

For Goldie has 5,271 pairs — among them a batch of flowered ones, some birds, some moon-shaped ones, some wooden and a pair of bees.

Some may resemble each other, but Goldie is sure no two pair of earrings in her collection are alike. That's why she treasures every one.

"The first place I go when I walk into a store is by the jewelry," says Goldie. "It's a fascinating hobby. There are so many different ones. Some so beautiful you can't resist. And others are so odd."

There's one minor problem, however. Goldie hasn't figured out a way yet to display her 5,271 pairs so people can see them all. "I keep thinking of how I can do that," she said.

Goldie, who lives in East Lansing, started scouting for and gathering earrings back in 1964, shortly after her husband died. "It gave me something to do," she explained.

Goldie's goal for years has been to collect at least one new pair of earrings a week. But sometimes she manages to get a lot more. Just because Goldie collects a pair of earrings doesn't mean she necessarily wears them. "These I wouldn't wear to a dog fight," she said, picking up a pair of clip earrings with a turquoise half circle at the top and a purple spoon hanging down. "The choice of colors would stop me."

Goldie said she only wears a pair when she goes somewhere special. "I am always afraid of losing them," she explained. "If I am just going downtown, I very seldom wear them."

Besides all the regular places where earrings are sold, Goldie shops around at rummage sales and places like the Salvation Army. Her hobby entails a lot of browsing until, bingo, she finds a pair she knows she doesn't have.

Thousands of her earrings are kept in Valentine candy boxes, metal file drawers and styrofoam egg cartons.

"Those egg cartons stack up pretty nice," she said.

Among her collection are Christmas trees, cowboy hats, snakes, howling balls, apple cores, pistols and bullets, flags and shell varieties. But perhaps the oddest of all is the sure conversation piece — a pair that comes equipped with a battery, and lights up.

Reye's Syndrome Warning Issued

DETROIT (AP) — Doctors at Children's Hospital are warning parents to get immediate attention for children who undergo behavioral changes after seemingly coming down with the flu.

Sudden unruly behavior may be a clue that the child has Reye's Syndrome, a little understood disease that has been fatal in two of four reported cases at Children's Hospital this year.

"It is most important that a child with these symptoms be brought in for examination immediately," said Dr. Edgardo Arciniega, an intensive care specialist at Children's.

One recent victim, 11-year-old Pamela Walker, complained of a stomach ache last Monday. Today, after three complete blood exchanges, doctors think she will recover from the dreaded illness.

"On Tuesday, she said she still felt sick and vomited several times," said Phyllis Walker, her mother. "By 7 p.m. that night she was lying on the floor, kicking and screaming and pounding her fists on the floor."

Mrs. Walker's hands were covered with sores where Pamela had bitten and scratched her.

Reye's Syndrome is a non-contagious disease that affects children usually during a time when there is an outbreak of influenza, although doctors insist the disease is not necessarily a virus.

Symptoms of the disease are usually the same as the flu or a cold with a slight cough and fever. Within a few days, the child appears to be well, then a relapse follows.

This time the flu-like illness is accompanied by vomiting. In the final stages before unconsciousness the child undergoes a sudden change in behavior and becomes unruly. Although the disease is not always fatal, it has a high incidence of death.

CLOSE CALL: Paul Walker watches over 11-year-old daughter Pamela over the weekend at Children's hospital in Detroit after she received three days of continuous treatment for Reye's Syndrome, a little understood children's disease that has resulted in deaths. Doctors think she'll recover. (AP Wirephoto)

Cicely Tyson's Age Is Almost Anybody's Guess

Q: How old is Cicely Tyson? Someone said she's much older than you think. I say early 30's at most. — T.V., Bowling Green, Ky.

A: Well, Cicely has a daughter in her late 20's or early 30's so your guess can't be right. Cicely is pretty tight about her age and we've heard guesses up to 50. Anyone who looks as good as she does should be entitled to whatever age she wants.

Q: I see where the Italian actor Giancarlo Giannini is going out with everybody's favorite date, Marisa Berenson. Doesn't he have a wife and children back in Italy? — U.M., Washington, D.C.

A: Yes he does. But Giancarlo, of the hypnotic eyes, who is currently bewitching moviegoers in "Swept Away" and "Seven Beauties," has long admired Marcello Mastroianni, with whom he is often compared. Marcello, remember, is famous for having his extracurricular affairs and still keeping a loyal wife back home. Giancarlo is apparently out to emulate his idol. But perhaps he ought to check first with Mrs. Giannini. She may not be as understanding as Signora Mastroianni.

PEOPLE
By Robin Adams Sloan

Q: Does Barbara Howar, that Washington gadabout, make much money from her books? I see she's done a novel now. — R.J., Lynchburg, Va.

A: We haven't kept a box score on Barbara's earnings but do know that the paperback rights to "Making Ends Meet," the novel you mentioned, went for $800,000. She's doing okay.

Q: I'm curious about CBS newswoman Pat Collins. Why did she leave NBC? — W.L., Boston, Mass.

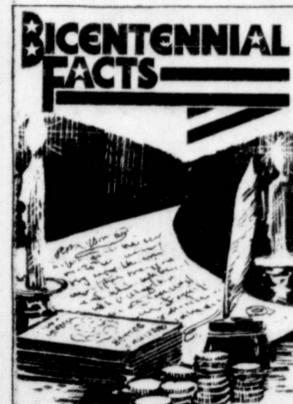

A: Pat was never happy with NBC which she claims turned everyone into robots. She says you'd never find anyone as individualistic as Walter Cronkite or Mike Wallace at NBC. Newscaster Pat recently married Joe Reposo, a composer and music publisher.

Q: How important in the coming elections will the mail-in vote be from Americans living overseas? — F.V., St. Petersburg, Fla.

A: The vote will figure more prominently this year because President Ford signed the Overseas Citizens Voting Act in January. This makes it unnecessary for Americans living abroad to meet all the differing and pesky state voting regulations. Democrats residing in England are even going to hold a primary and send delegates to the nominating convention in New York.

Q: How come all of Liz Taylor's boyfriends seem to go broke courting her? Henry Wynberg and that Maltese fellow, Darmanin, were both reported financially strapped. Hasn't Liz ever heard of going Dutch? — H.M.G., Auburn, Me.

A: Liz likes to get a lot more than she gives. It's not that she's really greedy but like most wealthy women she has a horror of being courted because she's rich and famous, rather than for herself.

THE MINES on Copper Hill in East Granby, Conn., were reportedly the first copper mines developed in British America. The first company to work the mines was established in 1707. "Granby coppers" were coins in common use for many years after 1737. In 1773 the mine was made a prison for the colony called Newgate, and Tory prisoners were confined there during the Revolution. The World Almanac notes.

CICELY: Ageless and entitled to it

GIANNINI: Those hypnotic eyes

HOWAR: Ends meet very well

Say Pensioners Get Millions In Jobless Pay

By EVANS WITT

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Many retirees who draw pensions also are able to get full unemployment benefits as long as they can show they were "forced" to retire and that they are seeking another job.

The nation's financially ailing unemployment insurance system paid out $187 million to an estimated 161,000 pensioners in 1974, an Associated Press analysis of a Census Bureau survey shows.

An estimated 90,000 federal, state and local government pensioners and 71,000 retirees from private business received checks from public unemployment funds in 1974, according to a computer analysis.

The analysis found most of those private pensioners also got a third check, Social Security benefits. A federal pension is designed to be comparable to the total of a private pension and Social Security.

Predictably, the practice of paying jobless benefits to retirees is controversial, even though it involves less than 1 per cent of the total $39 billion yearly cost of unemployment compensation. Sen. Dewey Bartlett, R-Okl., has introduced a bill to cut down on the practice.

"Unemployment compensation is designed to help a person who loses his job and is facing a rather bleak period of time trying to obtain another job. It's to carry him over, perhaps not to the level of living to which he has become accustomed, but as an emergency subsistence allowance to enable him to make it," says Bartlett.

"To allow persons with a guaranteed income from retirement to receive bonus benefits — intended solely for those who had no job — is a travesty."

Bartlett made an effort last year on the Senate floor to ban

jobless pay for federal pensioners, but his attempt failed. Jim Hocking of the American Association of Retired People said his agency does not know how many pensioners got jobless benefits and that developing such figures would be expensive and time consuming.

But Chuck Mervin of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees said his group could support Bartlett's bill to deduct a retiree's pension — private or government — dollar for dollar from jobless pay.

Lawrence Weatherford, head of the division of the U.S. Labor Department that oversees the program, said his agency does not know how many pensioners got jobless benefits and that developing such figures would be expensive and time consuming.

State laws protect the names of those getting unemployment. But here is a hypothetical example:

A middle-level executive who was forced to retire at age 65 from a California company drew a pension of $1,000 a month. State jobless checks would have given him an added $415 a month. If he drew unemployment for the usual limit of 39 weeks, he would have added a maximum of $4,056 to a first year pension of $12,000.

Movie Idol Dies At 75

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Richard Arlen, who appeared in "Wings," the first film ever to win an Academy Award, has died after a movie career spanning half a century.

Arlen died Sunday at Riverside Hospital in suburban North Hollywood, where he had been hospitalized more than a month with emphysema, a family spokesman said. He was 75.

Arlen launched his career with a role in Hollywood's first great air film, "Wings," a silent picture which also featured Buddy Rogers, Gary Cooper and Clara Bow. His acting skills and manly good looks eventually led to roles in 286 movies and television shows, according to A.C. Lyles, a producer and close family friend.

Among Arlen's more recent films were "The Last Time I Saw Archie," "Devil's Harbor," "Kansas Raiders," "Flaming Feather," "Hurricane Smith," "Blazing Forest," "Hildurit Guns" and "Devil's Canyon."

A one-time film idol, he retained his trim figure, ruddy tan complexion and luxuriant hair long after he was inactive in films.

Issues 4 Permits

BERRIEN SPINGS — Four building permits totaling $120,000 in new construction were issued in Oronoko township during February, according to Robert Pagel, building inspector.

Largest permit for $80,000 was issued to Rusk and Harder Construction for a sixplex apartment on lot 261, K-Woods.

Other permits:

- Edward Higgins, 735 Timberland, for a $20,000 home and two-car garage, lot 82, Shaker subdivision.
- George Kimmel, 142 Hillcrest, for a $12,000 storage building.
- Andrew Snyder, 3351 St. Joe road, for a $1,000 steel building.

CHAMPION BUCKS GLOW WITH GLORY

Nip Negaunee For School's First State Title

By JOHN VANDEN HEDEE
Sports Editor

ANN ARBOR — The glow of glory over the Buchanan Bucks and their basketball boosters reached the ultimate shine of state supremacy here Saturday night.

Coach Bill Wilson's unbeatable Bucks earned their first state championship in their school's history by nipping a nifty Negaunee squad 57-50 in the Class C championship clash before a sell out Crisler Arena crowd of 13,609.

There were some tense times, but never many real doubts about the outcome among the throngs of faithful followers the Bucks have gathered through their championship charisma.

Buchanan twice led comfortable leads disappear, but it trailed only once while capturing southwestern Michigan's first state basketball crown in five years and the area's first Class C title in 13 seasons.

They hurt us a lot on the offensive boards with their tips the whole ball game," explained Hallgren. "They are strong inside...they were up there around the rim all the time."

"You could see in the fourth quarter that the strength of Garrett (6-6) and (Mike) Busby (6-5) was beginning to wear them down," added Wilson on his team's overwhelming 49-33 overall board advantage.

The somewhat smaller Negaunee squad got 10 rebounds from 6-5 center John Vercoe while closing a 25-2 season which included the No. 4 rating.

Meanwhile, Buchanan's effective man-to-man defense held Negaunee well below its pre-game tourney scoring average of 62.2 points per game while holding the Miners to just 39.7 per cent of their field goals.

"I think we are a better shooting team than we showed tonight," continued Hallgren. "But I always say, if you shoot poorly, it is probably because the other team is playing good defense."

Wilson noted that his guards, brothers Walt and Kevin Vandebush, applied "pressure." And no one could overlook the effort of Gerald Busby in holding all-star Chuck Vercoe to just 10 points.

Hallgren also praised the younger Busby for being "tough" on offense and for hitting "some crucial shots."

Gerald was the best Buchanan shooter while hitting five of eight from the floor as the Bucks dismantled the dreaded Negaunee defense with excellent overall 51 per cent field goal shooting. (Negaunee had been allowing only 44.7 points per game in the tournament.)

John Vercoe made six of 10 for Negaunee. He and Dean Ellis also had 15 points apiece as the Miners closed out another season of sweet sorrow.

Negaunee, which was after its first title since 1957, lost the last two years in the semifinals to Bay City All Saints, the eventual state champions. The Miners have now won 93 of their last 109 games while being denied the coveted Class C crown.

Buchanan opened the game by jumping out to an 8-0 lead. It then led 17-5 on eight of 12 field goal shooting, before Negaunee responded with 10 unanswered points, including a stretch of more than two minutes at the start of the second quarter when the Bucks went without a shot.

It was anybody's game at halftime, with Buchanan leading by only 25-23.

"The first half we were not patient enough in working for the seams in their 1-3-1 zone defense," declared Wilson.

Before Buchanan got it together in the third quarter, the Bucks went scoreless for more than three minutes while being guilty of four turnovers.

Negaunee took its only lead at 27-25 during that stretch — marking the only time this season the Bucks trailed in the second half.

But the Bucks then fired up with eight unanswered points over the next 80 seconds and took the lead for good.

"We tried not to run with them," noted Hallgren, "but when they opened it up in the second half, they got running and got us running."

"We just emphasized the fact that we had to penetrate the seams of the zone and take better shots," added Wilson. "And the second half we picked up the tempo. We got the ball off the boards and exploded down the floor."

Buchanan built up its biggest lead of the game at 15 points (46-31) early in the fourth quarter. Negaunee then made a valiant comeback attempt with seven of 11 shooting, but the big Bucks point margin had put the Miners in too deep a hole.

Michigan, which came closer than anybody to beating Indiana this season, will be facing a stronger Hoosier unit this time, according to Orr.

"I think we have to play better this time than we did last time because they're playing better," said the Michigan coach. "Indiana was in a slight slump at one point of the season, but now they've got it back on the right beat. Bobby's got 'em playing well now."

Orr just about concedes the inside game to Indiana, hoping that his marksmen will be able to shoot from the perimeter.

"Rickey Green will be the key," Orr said. "He'll have to play very, very well. Out of necessity, Phil Hubbard will have to guard Benson. There's no other way we can match up."

Benson has four inches and 50 pounds on the Wolverines' 6-foot-7 freshman center, a relative flyweight at 195 pounds.

"Benson's tough," said Orr. "I've never failed to see him play hard. He's my kind of player. He wasn't as aggressive when he came out of high school as he is now. That's a tribute to Bobby Knight."

Wayman Britt, Michigan's best defensive player who held Rutgers' star Phil Sellers to a sub-par game in the semifinals, will be given the mountainous task of containing Player of the Year Scott May. Tom Abernethy, who suffered a bruised leg against UCLA, has recovered sufficiently to take on Michigan again for Johnny Robinson, a 20-point, 16-rebound performer against Rutgers.

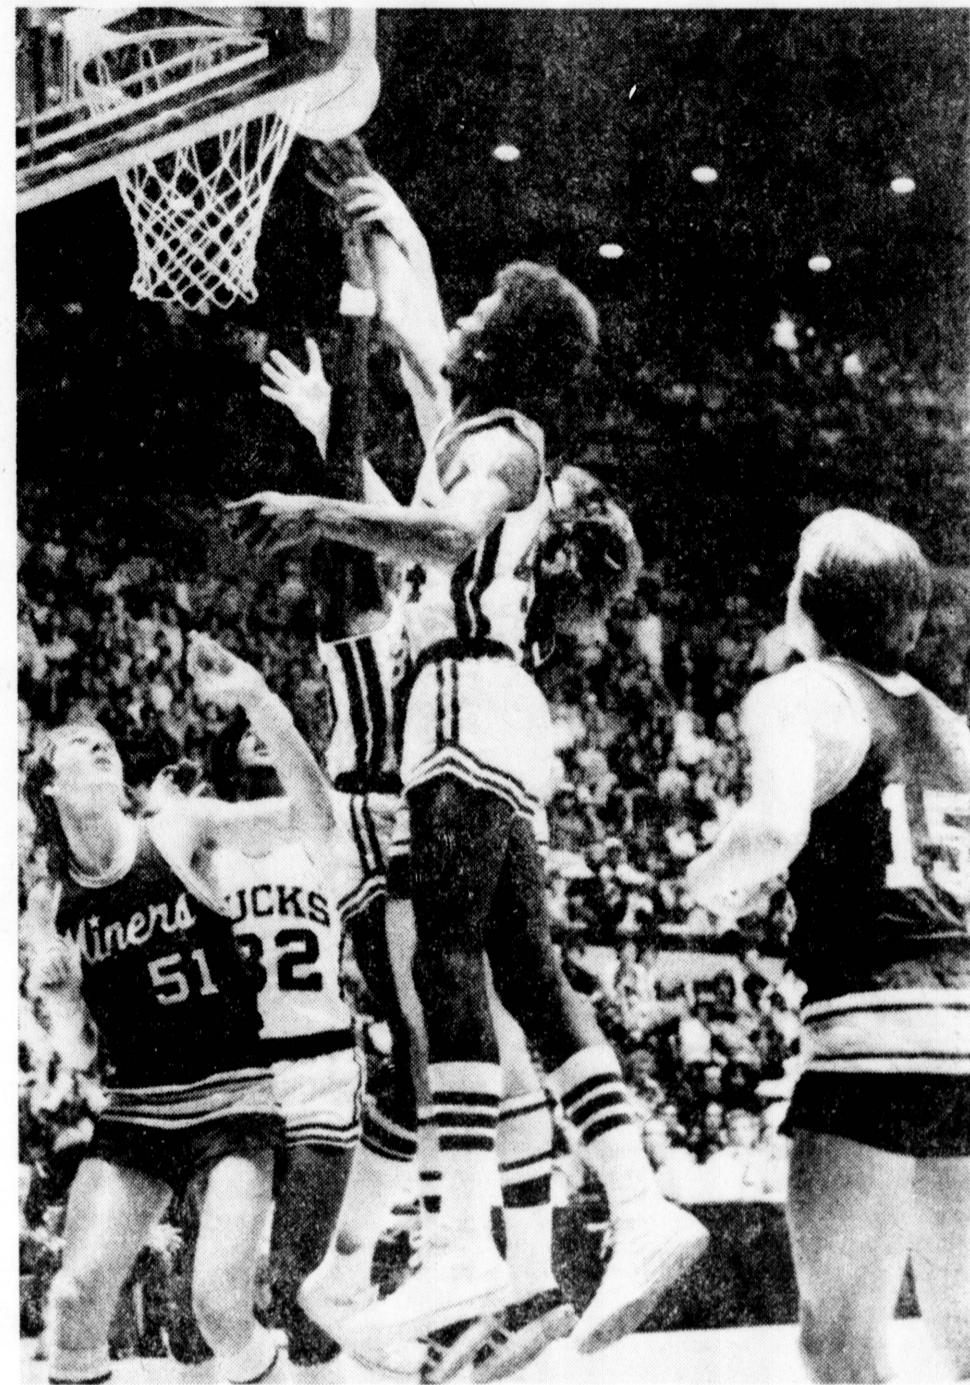

Indiana guards Bobby Wilkerson and Quinn Buckner will match their talents against Green and Steve Grote.

The Hoosiers are seeking their third national basketball title. They won in 1940 and 1953. Michigan has never won the NCAA championship.

Before the Big Ten teams meet in the championship game, Rutgers and UCLA will play for third place, a contest that slightly troubles Bruin Coach Gene Bartow.

"I don't like third-place games," he said. "But I'm sure that Rutgers will come to play. When anyone sees those four letters across our chest, it only makes them play harder. John Wooden didn't do me any favors by winning 10 national championships."

They say all things come to those who will wait. The state championship has finally come to Buchanan...and how sweet it is.

Indiana 'Hammer' Against Michigan 'Scalpel' Tonight

NCAA Title Tilt On Television At 8 P.M.

By KEN RAPPORPORT
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It's the Hammer vs. the Scalpel tonight in the finals of the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Indiana beats you up and Michigan cuts you up.

"I never dreamed that we'd have to play Indiana three times this season," said Michigan Coach Johnny Orr. "Good gracious, twice is enough."

The Big Ten colleagues advanced to the championship game at the Spectrum with surprisingly easy victories in Saturday's semifinals, setting up the first NCAA title game between teams from the same conference.

"I wish we could get some Big Ten officials to work our game tonight," kidded Orr. "Then it would be just like being back home."

In their previous meetings this season, Indiana's musclemen prevailed over Michigan's flyboys, but not by much. The Hoosiers beat the Wolverines by six points in one game and then were carried into overtime before subduing the Big Ten runners-up.

Despite sweeping the two-game series and finishing yards ahead of Michigan in the Big Ten standings, Indiana Coach Bobby Knight did not find past performances a psychological factor in the championship game.

"You can forget about all that past stuff," said Knight. "The only thing that makes the difference is how well you play once the ball goes up into the air. The only thing that matters is which team does what it does best. That team will win. You guys (the press) are always trying to make it so complicated."

"People say that Indiana's outside shooting game isn't so good, but I can't see anything wrong with it," said Orr. "Every time I see them, they don't seem to miss too many shots. When you've been undefeated after coming through our league a whole season, that's amazing."

"Indiana's played in Ann Arbor and East Lansing and those are tough places to win in. I don't think there's anything wrong with what Indiana does. If it is wrong, we ought to start doing it at Michigan."

Michigan, which came closer than anybody to beating Indiana this season, will be facing a stronger Hoosier unit this time, according to Orr.

"I think we have to play better this time than we did last time because they're playing better," said the Michigan coach.

"Indiana was in a slight slump at one point of the season, but now they've got it back on the right beat. Bobby's got 'em playing well now."

They say all things come to those who will wait. The state championship has finally come to Buchanan...and how sweet it is.

LMC Bowler All-American

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Lake Michigan College's Brad Peterson received All-American honors here Saturday at the National Junior College Athletic Association Bowling Championships.

Peterson, of Stevensville, rolled a 2344 for 12 games in the two-day tournament to finish in third place overall. The top five bowlers gain All-American status. Benton Harbor's Glen Barnes was next for LMC with a 2145 score.

LMC finished ninth among 16 participants in Saturday's team competition. Niagara won the team title with a 5719 total, while Lake Michigan came in with a 5318 score. Peterson topped the Indians with an 1192 total.

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Hubert Green, a down-home type who's become one of the gaudiest names in golf, had to go back to last Christmas to explain the sudden turn-around that has lifted him to the front rank of the game's stars.

"I don't really know exactly why," Hubert puzzled. He'd missed the cut four weeks ago, then came back to reel off three straight victories, only the second time in 14 seasons anyone has done that.

Then his face brightened with the grin that has made him such a popular favorite.

"Last Christmas, my caddy gave me a present," Hubert said. "A box of rocks. Maybe he was telling me I had rocks in my head."

And, Green surmised, maybe the caddy was right. Hubert said he'd had trouble with his concentration in the early part of the season.

"Actually, I was playing pretty good. Not bad, anyhow. But it was stupidity. Just dumb."

"It's like I was playing in a different time zone. I'd always wind up hitting one out of bounds or hitting one in the water or something. Horrible. Just awful."

The turn came at the Doral

Unranked Catholic Central Bags 'A' Crown

Three No. 1 Teams State Champs

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The only miracle to come out of the state prep basketball finals is the fact that there were no miracles.

In other words, all the favorites won. There were no upsets, no last-second desperation shots to snatch victory from defeat. In short, there was no "March Madness."

"I guess everyone used up all their miracles in the semifinals," said Charles Coles, the affable and debonair Saginaw coach.

Coles' club made it to the Class A finals by virtue of a desperation shot at the buzzer in the semis to nip Pontiac Central, but Saginaw was unable to produce another miracle Saturday before a capacity crowd of more than 13,000 in Michigan's Crisler Arena.

The Trojans were defeated, 59-57, by Detroit Catholic Central.

CLASS A

After Saginaw had fallen behind 29-21 at the half, Coles watched his Trojans struggle to within one point of Catholic Central, 37-36, near the end of the third period.

But just as Saginaw appeared ready to deliver the knockout punch, C.C.'s flashy Mike Prince found the range again, and the Shamrocks won more easily than the final score would indicate.

All-Stater Paul Roby peaked Saginaw with 21 points while Prince, who just missed being named to the All-State squad, paced C.C. with 25.

"It was respectable," Coles said afterward. "We came further than anybody believed we could. We got a lot of mileage with our guys. I think it was a good matchup."

The victory enabled C.C. to finish the season with 25 victories and three defeats while Saginaw bowed out with a 20-8 mark.

Both teams were unranked going into the finals, but Coles insisted they "were the two best teams" on Saturday.

CLASS B

It was a star-studded battle for the Class B crown with top-ranked Beecher claiming a pair of All-Staters in Bryan Rison and James Smith, while

No. 2 Rouge countered with All-Stater Lionel Reeves.

Rison and Reeves both lived up to their advance billing. Rison, a 5-foot-10 guard exploded for 24 of his 27 points in the second half to pace the Beecher victory while Reeves pumped in 25 to pace Rouge. Smith fouled out with almost six minutes remaining, had 11.

"I guess it does a little more to win it against The Man," said Beecher Coach Mike Bedore in deference to veteran Rouge Coach Lotton Greene who was thwarted in his bid for a 13th championship.

Beecher finished 27-0 while Rouge went out 24-4.

The unflappable Greene — who also made it to the finals on a last-second goal in the semifinals — was gracious in defeat, while vowing his Panthers would be back.

CLASS C

The Class C title showdown pitted not only a pair of All-State players, but the top two coaches as well, according to balloting by Michigan sports writers and broadcasters.

Coach Bill Wilson's top-ranked Buchanan squad was led, as expected, by Ken Garrett who pumped in 16 points against the fourth-ranked Miners of Coach Dave Hallgren.

That performance also enabled Garrett to win both the battle and the war against Negaunee's All-Stater, Chuck Vercoe, who finished with only 10.

CLASS D

Third-ranked Harbor Springs gave their top-ranked opponents all they could handle for the first few minutes of the Class D battle, but DePorres began to assert itself late in the first period and slowly but surely battered the Rams into submission.

CLASS D

Third-ranked Harbor Springs gave their top-ranked opponents all they could handle for the first few minutes of the Class D battle, but DePorres began to assert itself late in the first period and slowly but surely battered the Rams into submission.

"We work at it," said a weary Coach Ed Rachal afterward.

"It's been a long season for DePorres. We started in June, played about 30 games during the summer, came back in November, had the River Rouge Christmas tournament (which they won), the Detroit Catholic League tournament and then this."

All-Stater Tony Fuller lead a balanced DePorres scoring attack with 23 points while Eric Duhart, who narrowly missed being named to the All-State team, finished with 15. John Garwood pumped in 14, Charles Harris 11 and Dean Walker 10 for DePorres.

Dave Rhine, the 6-foot-6 junior All-Stater for Harbor Springs, led all scorers with 24 points, while Gary Morse added 14.

Pepitone Single Trips Cleveland Yankees Outhomer Tigers In 16-11 Slugfest

Joe Pepitone, ballplayer, pub owner and author, is alive and well in ... pick one:

— Yankee Stadium.

— Wrigley Field.

— The Astrodome.

— Atlanta.

— Japan.

— Honolulu.

Would you believe Yuma, Ariz.?

That's where the San Diego Padres are training and that's where they beat the Cleveland Indians 7-6 in an exhibition Sunday on a 10th-inning single by the 35-year-old Pepitone.

The erstwhile playboy of the Western world retired after two months of playing — baseball, that is — in Japan in 1974. Now he's on the roster of the Padres' Hawaii farm club in the Pacific Coast League but is bidding to return to the majors.

"I'm very impressed with the shape Pepitone is in," said

San Diego Manager John McNamara. "He can still swing the bat and he also looks like he has the good hands around first base. He has a chance to make our ballclub."

Elsewhere on the exhibition circuit, the pitchers took turns proving they are no longer ahead of the hitters. In the biggest slugfest, the New York Yankees outlasted the Detroit Tigers 16-11 as Chris Chambliss, Sandy Alomar and Otto Velez all homered. Alex Johnson, Aurelio Rodriguez (a grand slam) and Willie Horton connected for the Tigers.

Houston split a pair of high-scoring contests. One squad of Astros downed the Cincinnati Reds 9-6 as Cedar Cedeno and Bob Watson each collected four hits in a 19-hit attack. Another group bowed to Montreal 9-5 as Pete Mackanin and Mike Jorgenson homered for the Expos.

The winless Oakland A's continued to have their problems. The main squad surrendered six eighth-inning runs to the Chicago Cubs and lost 12-6 while Tim Johnson's two-run single in the ninth inning gave the Milwaukee Brewers a 4-3 triumph over the Oakland 'B' team.

Three-run homers by Ron Cey — off Mickey Lolich — and John Hale powered the Los Angeles Dodgers over the winless New York Mets 9-0 behind the eight-hit pitching of Doug Rau, Mike Marshall and rookie Lance Rautzahn. And Kansas City's Paul Splittorff, Doug Bird and Steve Mingori stymied the Pittsburgh Pirates on seven hits as the Royals pelted Doc Medich for 14 hits and all their runs in another 9-0 decision.

Luis Melendez drove in five runs with a single and grand slam homer to lead the St. Louis Cardinals past the Philadelphia Phillies 8-5 and Tom Grieve's three-run homer paced the Texas Rangers over the Baltimore Orioles 8-3.

Frank Tanana and Don Kirkwood combined on a four-hitter as the California Angels blanked the San Francisco Giants 2-0. Danny Thompson's two-run single in the bottom of the ninth lifted the Minnesota Twins over the Atlanta Braves 3-2. And the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox battled to a 1-1 tie in a game called after 15 innings when both clubs ran out of available pitchers.

May averaged about 24 points per game in leading No. 1-ranked and undefeated Indiana into the NCAA final Monday night against Michigan.

TENNIS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — Jimmy Connors came from a 4-1 deficit in each set to defeated Roscoe Tanner 6-4, 6-4 and capture first prize money of $35,000 in the $200,000 Tennis Games.

BOSTON — Second-seeded Evonne Goolagong of Australia scored an easy 6-2, 6-0 victory over Virginia Wade of England in the final of a $75,000 women's indoor tennis tournament.

Michigan's Orr Top Coach

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Johnny Orr of Michigan was named "Coach of the Year" Sunday by the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

The NABC, meeting here in conjunction with the NCAA championship, also voted Indiana's Scott May "Player of the Year."

Bucks Stretch Midwest Lead

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

First Jerry Colangelo, the general manager of the Phoenix Suns, was criticized for trading super-talent Charlie Scott to Boston and only getting Paul Westphal and a couple of No. 2 draft choices in return. Then he was rapped for dealing promising rookie John Shumate to Buffalo even up for traveled veteran Garfield Heard. Well, Colangelo just might get the last laugh. He's traded Phoenix right into the thick of the playoff fight, and if the Suns qualify it will be their first post-season appearance since the 1969-70 National Basketball Association season.

Westphal scored six points in the last two minutes and 27 for the game Sunday night to lead the Suns to a crucial 100-97 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers. Heard, meanwhile, added 12 points and has been a bulwark of the Suns' late-season surge with his solid rebounding and steady floor play.

Sunday's victory kept Phoenix tied for second place in the Pacific Division with Seattle, which earlier defeated Atlanta 127-112. The Lakers, the third team in the scramble for two playoff berths, are now three games behind in the loss column with just five games to play in the regular season.

"We've got to win all five of our remaining games — it's as simple as that," said Lakers Coach Bill Sharman.

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday, it was Boston 100, New York 94; Washington 113, Buffalo 90; New Orleans 110, Philadelphia 107; Milwaukee 105, Portland 100, and Golden State 134, Kansas City 117.

Milwaukee stretched its Midwest Division lead to 1 1/2 games over idle Detroit by beating Portland behind 29 points by Bob Dandridge, 27 by Brian Winters and 13 in the final period by reserve Gary Brokaw.

Kansas City dropped four games back of Milwaukee and 2 1/2 behind Detroit as the Warriors rattled up their highest point total of the season.

Boston clinched first place in the Atlantic Division by nipping New York 16-2 in the final fourth minutes of the third period to erase a three-point deficit. The Knicks never caught up.

Dave Bing scored 21 of his 23 points in the first half as Washington shot 60 per cent from the floor and built a 65-44 lead en route to an easy victory over Buffalo in a nationally televised game. The win extended the Bullets' lead over Cleveland in the Central Division to 1 1/2 games.

New Orleans beat Philadelphia at the free throw line, hitting 34 of 36 tries to just 9 of 17 for the visitors. Pete Maravich topped the Jazz with 38 points, including 10-for-10 from the line, while George McGinnis led the 76ers with 27 points.

Minnesota Grabs NCAA Ice Title Vannelli Keys Gopher Rally In 6-4 Victory

DENVER (AP) — "All we needed was the first one," said Minnesota's fiery Tom Vannelli after the Gophers staged a come-from-behind effort to win the NCAA hockey championship.

Minnesota was behind 3-0 against Michigan Tech Saturday before the Gophers started a surge late in the first period, and they won the title, 6-4.

It was Vannelli, voted the tournament's most valuable player, who ignited the rally. Tech had taken the lead in the opening period on a pair of goals by Warren Young and one by Jim Murray.

Then Minnesota scored four straight times to move on top. 4-3. After Vannelli, the Gophers got goals from Joe Micheletti, Bill Baker and Tom Gorense in a span of 10 minutes. Nels Godard of Michigan Tech countered with a goal late in the second period.

Minnesota's senior captain Pat Phippen then slid a 21-foot shot past Tech goalie Bruce Horsch midway through the Minnesota was behind 3-0 against Michigan Tech Saturday before the Gophers' surge late in the first period, and they won the title, 6-4.

Minnesota's senior captain Pat Phippen then slid a 25-foot shot past Tech goalie Bruce Horsch midway through the final period to break the tie, and Warren Miller added an insurance goal late in the contest.

"We were down by three goals, but we didn't die," Vannelli said. "After the first goal, we just took off. We tried to make them skate and pass with us and that's exactly what we did."

Minnesota Coach Herb Brooks said Vannelli's powerplay goal got his team going.

"We were having trouble with Tech's forechecking but we started to turn things around after Vannelli's goal," he said.

"Give Minnesota full credit," said Tech Coach John MacInnes. "They took the play away from us and kept us off the puck, especially our big scorers."

In the consolation game, Brown edged Boston University 8-7.

Deal Awaits Approval

Mets Trade Seaver

For LA's Sutton?

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The New York Mets have agreed to send pitcher Tom Seaver to the Los Angeles Dodgers for hurler Don Sutton, and the deal only awaits Sutton's approval before it is consummated, the Newark Star-Ledger reported today.

The newspaper said Mets' General Manager Joe McDonald spent most of Sunday negotiating contract terms with Sutton's business manager, Larue Hartcroft.

While neither team would confirm the trade, the Mets and Dodgers have reportedly worked out all details of the swap.

"That's why they're talking to my man," Sutton said. "They've agreed on the deal. Now they've got to get me to agree."

Sutton, who will be 31 Friday, has played with the Dodgers for 10 years. That makes him a "5-and-10" player, one who cannot be traded without his permission.

The Dodger star reportedly talked to Mets' players Joe Torre and Bud Harrelson and let them in on the trade during Sunday's New York-Los Angeles exhibition game in Vero Beach, Fla.

McDonald said three weeks ago he had initiated trade talks with six clubs, advising them of the Mets' willingness to part with Seaver. Several days ago McDonald said he still had "ongoing negotiations with two clubs."

Seaver, a three-time Cy Young award winner, is generally regarded as one of the best pitchers in baseball. He said Sunday that a trade for Sutton would not surprise him.

"When we first started working out I went to Joe (McDonald) and told him I wasn't unhappy or disloyal and that I wanted to remain a Met. He said he would get back to me."

"But there have been no communications. He has not gotten back to me."

Seaver, who does not have veto power over a deal, said he would not balk at becoming a Dodger.

"I grew up in California and the Dodgers have a good organization," he said. "I don't want to be traded but if I am, I would go to the Dodgers."

Seaver, who has been active in the players union, incurred the wrath of the Mets' front office when he failed to sign his contract on time and the club had to invoke the automatic renewal clause.

"The board of directors is upset at that," McDonald said. "We have never had to do that before. We have felt that we always treated our players fairly and there was no need to invoke the renewal clause."

Sutton said the Mets would probably get another player in any deal. Sources said the second player could be outfielder John Hale or Joe Ferguson, a catcher-outfielder who suffered a fractured right arm last July.

Deal Awaits Approval Mets Trade Seaver For LA's Sutton?

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The New York Mets have agreed to send pitcher Tom Seaver to the Los Angeles Dodgers for hurler Don Sutton, and the deal only awaits Sutton's approval before it is consummated, the Newark Star-Ledger reported today.

The newspaper said Mets' General Manager Joe McDonald spent most of Sunday negotiating contract terms with Sutton's business manager, Larue Harcourt.

Bears' McLellan Captures Mile Run Event

KALAMAZOO — St. Joseph's girls track team, buoyed by Nan McLellan's first place finish in the mile run in 5:35.2, took third in class A-B portion of the Western Michigan University Indoor Girls Track meet held here Saturday.

Kalamazoo Central won the team title with 79 points while the Bears totalled 45½ points. Paw Paw was sixth with 24 points while South Haven tied for 12th with eight points and Dowagiac was 14th with six points.

A St. Joe only had one second place finisher and that was Jean McFarlane in the 60-yard hurdles with a time of 8.9. Sue Griswold was third for the Bears in the high jump, going 5-1, while St. Joe's 880-yard relay was also third in 1:54.6.

Amy Firestone of Paw Paw won the 880-yard run in 2:32.2 while St. Joe's Cindy Putnam was third in 2:38.4.

Gail Sutherland and Sandy Dow picked up thirds for the Redskins. Sutherland had a 7.65 clocking in the 60-yard dash and Dow had a time of 9.0 in the 60-yard hurdles.

NCAA Tourney Player Profiles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A look at the five starting players on Indiana and Michigan for Monday night's NCAA Basketball Championship game at the Spectrum:

Indiana

SCOTT MAY (No. 42), 6-0, 197, 218 pounds, senior: The nation's player of the year and a two-time All-American . . . averaged 24 points and 8 rebounds a game this season . . . strong, hard-working, one of the best pure shooters in the country . . . deadly jump shot from the wings and can muscle inside . . . blue chip player.

TOM ABERNETHY (33), 6-7, 220, Sr.: Steady, always moving, fine two-way performer . . . Hold UCLA star Richard Washington to 8 of 15 shots from the field in the semis . . . rarely takes a bad shot and hit .552 per cent from the field for the season . . . bruiser knee vs. UCLA but is expected to start.

KENT BENSON (54), 6-11, 245, Jr.: All-American center . . . deadly shooter inside and set school record for accuracy with .582 per cent from floor . . . powerful, tireless worker . . . had 33 points in first game vs. Michigan this season.

QUINN BUCKNER (21), 6-3, 203, Sr.: Team's floor general, best ball-handler, penetrates well . . . strong defensive player . . . in his third year as Hoosier co-captain . . . not an exceptional outside shooter . . . could have his hands full with Michigan's Rickey Green.

BOBBY WILKERSON (20), 6-7, 200, Sr.: Led Indiana and was second in Big 10 in assists . . . likes to take smaller guards inside . . . not a strong shooter from outside . . . pulled down 19 rebounds vs. UCLA.

Michigan

WAYMAN BRITT (32), 6-2, 185, Sr.: Only senior on Wolverines starting five . . . small for a forward but team's best defensive player . . . held Phil Sellers, Rutgers All-American, to 11 points in semis and has guarded May with success twice this year . . . steady, dependable all-around player.

JOHN ROBINSON (45), 6-6, 205, Jr.: Led Michigan from field with .573 per cent shooting during season . . . strong around the basket and tenacious rebounder . . . led Wolverines with 20 points and 16 rebounds vs. Rutgers . . . vulnerable in a quick forward on defense.

PHIL HUBBARD (35), 6-7, 195, Ft.: Remarkable pulse for a freshman . . . mobile, quick for a big man . . . has a soft touch and good range . . . scored 15 points and had 20 rebounds in two games vs. Indiana this season, but fouled out both times . . . gives away 50 pounds and four inches to Benson.

RICKEY GREEN (24), 6-2, 170, Jr.: One of the fastest guards in the country, if not the fastest . . . averaged 20 points a game for the year, mixing headlong drives with long-range jumpers . . . good ballhandler and breaker . . . full-court presses single-handedly . . . most exciting player among four teams here.

STEVE GROTE (30), 6-2, 195, Jr.: Like Indiana's Abernethy, doesn't shoot much but hits more than half his shots . . . likes to drive in the basket in heavy traffic . . . good ballhandler, cool under pressure . . . could get in foul trouble if Wilkerson takes him inside.

USC Captures Second Straight Swim Crown

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — AAU coach. "He wanted to stay in Long Beach. He didn't want to go to USC with all that rah-rah stuff."

"I really didn't recruit him. I just bought him a couple of Big Macs and he signed his letter of intent. But he signed more to stop the recruiting pressure from everywhere else."

Shaw dominated the 1975 World Aquatics Championship in Cali, Colombia, last summer, winning the 200, 400 and 1,500-meter freestyles. He was nearly as devastating here, and he could be the big fish at the Olympics this summer.

Juchums says Shaw will probably swim the 200, 400 and 1,500-meter freestyle and the 200-meter backstroke at the U.S. Olympic Trials this June in Long Beach.

After Cali, Shaw had the inside track in the 1,500-meter race—a grueling event requiring large doses of courage and talent. At that time, Shaw held the world record in the 1,500, as well as world records in the 400 and 800-meter freestyles.

But all he now owns is the 400 mark since Steve Holland of Australia recently smashed Shaw's other two records, bettering the 1,500-standard by more than 10 seconds.

Long Beach State, with Don Grant contributing an eighth-place finish in the 200-yard butterfly, finished with 40 points, a far cry from Southern California's 398 points — the second highest total in NCAA HISTORY. Runnerup Tennessee had 237 points in the meet, which ended Saturday night.

"Timmy's a Long Beach (Calif.) boy," said Dick Juchums, Shaw's collegiate and

WAYMAN BRITT (32), 6-2, 185, Sr.: Only senior on Wolverines starting five . . . small for a forward but team's best defensive player . . . held Phil Sellers, Rutgers All-American, to 11 points in semis and has guarded May with success twice this year . . . steady, dependable all-around player.

JOHN ROBINSON (45), 6-6, 205, Jr.: Led Michigan from field with 573 per cent shooting during season . . . strong around the basket and tenacious rebounder . . . led Wolverines with 20 points and 16 rebounds vs. Rutgers . . . vulnerable to a quick forward on defense.

PHIL HUBBARD (35), 6-7, 105, Fr.: Remarkable poise for a freshman . . . mobile, quick for a big man, has a soft touch and good range . . . scored 35 points and had 20 rebounds in two games vs. Indiana this season, but fouled out both times . . . gives away 50 pounds and four inches to Benson.

RICKY GREEN (24), 6-2, 170, Jr.: One of the fastest guards in the country, if not the fastest . . . averaged 20-points a game for the year, mixing headlong drives with long-range jumpers . . . good ballhandler and breaks full-court presses single-handedly . . . most exciting player among four teams here.

STEVE GROTE (30), 6-2, 195, Jr.: Like Indiana's Abernethy, doesn't shoot much but hits more than half his shots . . . likes to drive to the basket in heavy traffic . . . good ball-handler, cool under pressure . . . could get in foul trouble if Wilkerson takes him inside.

USC Captures Second Straight Swim Crown

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Freestyle record-holder Tim Shaw could have gone to the University of Southern California, the NCAA swimming champion. Instead, he chose to be a virtual one-man team at Long Beach State.

While powerful Southern California was winning its third straight National Collegiate Athletic Association Swimming and Diving Championship with a team of 19 athletes, Shaw was numerically half the Long Beach State contingent.

Shaw, 1975 Sullivan Award winner, won the 500-yard and 1,650-yard freestyles in American record times and finished third in the 200-yard freestyle. He accounted for 44 team points, which, in itself, would be good enough for 12th place in the team standings.

Long Beach State, with Don Grant contributing an eighth-place finish in the 200-yard butterfly, finished with 49 points, a far cry from Southern California's 398 points — the second highest total in NCAA HISTORY. Runnerup Tennessee had 237 points in the meet, which ended Saturday night.

"Timmy's a Long Beach (Calif.) boy," said Dick Jochums, Shaw's collegiate and AAU coach. "He wanted to stay in Long Beach. He didn't want to go to USC with all that rah-rah stuff."

"I really didn't recruit him. I just bought him a couple of Big Macs and he signed his letter of intent. But he signed more to stop the recruiting pressure from everywhere else."

Shaw dominated the 1975 World Aquatics Championship in Cali, Colombia, last summer, winning the 200, 400 and 1,500-meter freestyles. He was nearly as devastating here, and he could be the big fish at the Olympics this summer.

Jochums says Shaw will probably swim the 200, 400 and 1,500-meter freestyle and the 200-meter backstroke at the U.S. Olympic Trials this June in Long Beach.

After Cali, Shaw had the inside track in the 1,500-meter race — a grueling event requiring large doses of courage and talent. At that time, Shaw held the world record in the 1,500, as well as world records in the 400 and 800-meter freestyles.

But all he now owns is the 400 mark since Steve Holland of Australia recently smashed Shaw's other two records, bettering the 1,500-standard by more than 10 seconds.

Tie With Canadiens Gives Bruins Title

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

So a tie is like kissing your sister? Well, to the Boston Bruins Sunday night it was more like oh, you beautiful doll. That's because the 2-2 deadlock with the Montreal Canadiens enabled the Bruins to clinch first place in the National Hockey League's Adams Division and an automatic bye in the opening round of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

"Four games in five nights...unbelievable!" chorused Coach Don Cherry. "I'd like to see any other team with four key guys out play like this against Montreal."

Elsewhere, the Chicago Black Hawks regained first place in the Smythe Division from idle Vancouver by defeating the Minnesota North Stars 5-3, the Pittsburgh Penguins climbed past Los Angeles into second place in the Norris Division by blanking the Detroit Red Wings 3-0, the Atlanta Flames turned back the Washington Capitals 3-1 and the New York Rangers beat the Kansas City Scouts 4-2.

The Bruins took a 2-0 lead early in the first period on goals by Don Marcotte and Wayne Cashman and Steve Shutt and Guy Lafleur scored for Montreal 41 seconds apart in the second period. It was the 42nd for Shutt and the 52nd for Lafleur. Two Boston goals were disallowed, one by Jean Ratelle when Cashman was in the crease and another when Gary Doak pushed the puck in with his hand.

Pit Martin's tie-breaking goal with Chicago short-handed midway in the third period enabled the Chicago Black Hawks to snap a five-game losing streak. It was Martin's second goal of the game and 29th of the season but the Hawks didn't clinch the victory until Dennis Hull scored into an empty net with 29 seconds left. Earlier, Chicago erased a 3-1 second-period deficit on goals by Bobby Sheehan, his first since Dec. 14, and Cliff Koroll.

Goalie Michel Plasse turned back 29 shots for his second shutout of the season while Stan Gilbertson, Rick Kehoe and Pierre Larouche scored the goals. It was the 47th for Larouche.

Former Washington captain Bill Clement scored early in the opening period and assisted on third-period tallies by Eric Vail and Tim Ecclestone. Nelson Pyatt got Washington's goal late in the game.

Pete Stenkowski picked up three assists while Carol Vadas and Greg Polis each had a goal and an assist. Meanwhile, rookie goalie Doug Soetaert, blanking Kansas City for more than two periods and also picked up an assist. The setback extended Kansas City's winless streak to 23 games, two short of the NHL mark set earlier this season by Washington.

Harris Leads Delta State To Second Women's Crown

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)

Coming international competition, including the Olympics, figures to make Lucia Harris even more dominant in women's basketball.

And that may be just one improvement next season in the Delta State of Mississippi team that won its second straight women's college title by defeating Immaculata of suburban Philadelphia 69-64 Saturday night.

"Sure, we all can get better," said the 6-foot-3 Miss Harris, one of only two juniors on a Delta team that did not bring a senior to the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women Tournament.

Miss Harris left here for a Far Eastern tour with the U.S. team she helped win the Pan American Games last fall. Women's basketball will join the Olympic events for the first time this summer, and Miss Harris seems assured a berth on the U.S. team.

She had 30 points and 18 rebounds, roughly her averages for the season, in the victory over Immaculata, a 645-student Catholic school which won three national titles before finishing runner-up to Delta last season and this year.

Although Miss Harris was the dominant player in the tournament, Delta showed it was not a one-woman team.

Four-foot-eleven Debbie Brock dribbled through presses, set the pace for Delta's deliberate offense and hit four free throws in the last 29 seconds against the Mighty Macs.

Completing Delta's starting five are Cornelia Ward, who scored 38 points and shot 72 percent from the floor in a quarter-final; 5-10 Ramona Von Boeckman, who had 15 second-half points against the Macs, and 5-11 Wanda Hairston.

Immerfall Will Seek More Skating Success, Acclaim

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The 1976 Winter Olympics and their attendant international media saturation made Dan Immerfall a world celebrity. And Juiving experienced success and acclaim, the soft-spoken Madison, Wis., music student wants more.

"Speed skating is basically just fun. I just enjoy the competition. Sports are supposed to be fun. If it ever gets in a job, I'll quit, but I sure don't feel that way now," said Immerfall, who won a bronze medal at 500 meters in Olympic speed skating competition last month.

Immerfall and fellow U.S. Olympic skaters Peter Mueller of suburban Mequon, Mueller's fiancee, Leah Poulen of Northbrook, Ill., and Sheila Young of Detroit were honored Sunday at a reception and dinner program jointly sponsored by the Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce, a local brewery and the Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association.

Immerfall's Olympic triumph brought wide publicity to his widowed mother, Irina, who has held two jobs to finance Immerfall's education and skating travels.

His mother works as a daytime secretary and as a key punch operator at night for the skater, who is a music student majoring in clarinet at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

"I would like to be the world sprint champion," Immerfall said, "I almost made it earlier this month, finishing second by something like three or four-tenths of a point to Johann Grunath of Sweden in Berlin. Then I would like to skate in the 1980 Olympics. I don't know if it's a realistic goal, but I want to try."

"And I don't think my mother will have to work quite as hard as she has," he said. "I want to get a job and work full time until school starts again in June. I'm taking this semester off, and I hope to save enough money to get me through next season."

Immerfall's grueling daily schedule begins with a 6 a.m. wake up.

"Last semester I would get up and practice the clarinet for a while and then go to school," he said. "Ice time in Milwaukee usually would start at 2 or 3 in the afternoon. I would drive there and work out until 6:30 or 7 and then drive back home again for homework and clarinet practice. It's a long day, all right."

Travel to Milwaukee required about an hour's drive one way for Immerfall to train at the Olympic style rink at State Fair Park. The facility, only one of its kind in the nation, may be closed because it loses about $10,000 a year.

The dilemma typifies the problems which face speed skaters in America. The sport is much more widely publicized in Europe, where skaters have considerable advantages in training.

"Basically, they have a lot more time," Immerfall said, "especially in Eastern Europe. Athletes are in the military. Their military duty consists almost entirely of training for their sport."

Still, of the 10 medals won by U.S. athletes in the Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria, last month, speed skaters won six of them. Miss Young won three, including a gold in the 500 meter race, while Mueller won a gold at 1,000. Miss Paulus won a silver 1,500 meters.

Immerfall credits the skaters' improved program in the United States to hiring of Peter Schotting as coach two years ago. Schotting, an international competition veteran, teaches at UW-Milwaukee and coaches the U.S. skaters year around.

All Buchanan Savors Taste Of Championship

UNBEATEN 'C' KINGS HONORED AT RECEPTION

By JACK WALKDEN

Staff Sports Writer

BUCHANAN — Ah, the thrill of victory. That thrill has been a long time coming for this sports-hungry town. But after Buchanan's high school basketball team captured the Class C state championship Saturday night, the Buck fans made up for lost time.

An enthusiastic crowd of more than 2,000 people, including town officials and civic leaders, attended a big celebration for the Bucks Sunday in the high school gym to demonstrate their feelings after the Bucks' first state title ever.

"Sodom in Buchanan has the achievement of one goal united a group of people the way this championship has," Buchanan mayor Joseph Garber II said at the reception. "As the town of Buchanan goes on to face other Negaunee's, we should all remember this day of union and work together."

Buchanan finished with a perfect 28-0 season record, best in southwestern Michigan history, after beating Negaunee 57-50 in Saturday's championship contest. But even after completing the incredible season, the Buck players remained as calm and unemotional as they have been all season.

"This team has been a very relaxed, even-tempered group," Buchanan coach Bill Wilson said. "They enjoyed this game a little more, probably, but other than that there was really no change in them."

But there was a remarkable change in the Buchanan fans after the game. Buchanan was virtually a ghost town during the championship contest with most of the town either in Ann Arbor watching the game in person or glued to radios and television sets to hear the action.

Word of the victory spread quickly and before long a caravan was put together with horns blasting their way down Main street.

The Bucks received a police escort back into town Sunday. Cars were parked along the side of Red Bud Trail and began joining the caravan as it went by. By the time the caravan reached the city limits, police estimate more than 150 cars were following it.

More than 2,500 more fans lined Main street to welcome the team home.

Fans along Red Bud Trail who were unable to either make it into town or join the caravan, simply came to the front of their homes. Many held signs congratulating the team. One family even painted the number one in the middle of Red Bud Trail about two miles from the U.S.-31 intersection.

"It's just fantastic support," Wilson exclaimed. "I haven't seen this much support in all my experience. I feel super great, I just feel 100 pounds lighter."

The team received a standing ovation upon entering the gym and gathered several more during the festivities. Garber gave Wilson and the team the key to the city.

Buchanan athletic director and former coach Ray Berry called the team "one of the greatest I've ever seen."

"The nice thing about this team is that they're not only champions on the floor, but they're also champions off the floor," he added.

Dr. Walt Vanderbush, high school principal, said it was "one of the proudest moments of my life."

"It makes the community a little greater in everyone's eyes," said Vanderbush, whose sons, Walt and Kevin, started at Buchanan. "I feel this team will bring credit to Buchanan in the future and they certainly have already."

Each cheerleader was introduced and given a medal with a megaphone on it showing that each girl had been a cheerleader for a state championship team.

Don Reinback, assistant principal and another former Buchanan cage coach was master of ceremonies, introduced each player on the team to the crowd and each was given a standing ovation. But perhaps the biggest round of cheers was saved for center Kent Garrett, a winner of All-State honors.

Co-captains Walt Vanderbush and Garrett presented Wilson with a trophy in appreciation for his work with the team.

Damaged

NILES — Niles township firemen said a fire southeast of here early this morning caused an estimated $10,000 damage to the Larry Pfeilinger residence, 1506 Bertrand road.

A funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Prindle-Thompson funeral home, Lawton, where friends may call after 6 this evening. The Rosary will be recited at 6:30 this evening in the funeral home.

Burnt will be in Oak Grove cemetery, Lawton.

Funeral arrangements for Steven Rothhaar were incomplete today. They are being handled by the Chapels of the Pines of the Truesdale Funeral home in Portage.

Man, Boy Victims Of Van Buren Mishaps

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Van Buren county's highway death toll jumped by two over the weekend.

A Mattawan man was killed Saturday night in a crash which injured nine other people, including eight members of the Van Buren Folk Dancers group. On Sunday, an 11-year-old Lawton boy injured March 22 when he stepped in front of a car on Second street in Lawton, succumbed Sunday in Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo.

The man was identified as Loren Eugene Miller, 22.

The boy was Steven Rothhaar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Rothhaar, route 2, Lawton.

The deaths boosted the county's death toll to six so far for the year.

State Police from the Paw Paw post said Miller was killed when a station wagon carrying the members of the Folk Dancers group was turned across his traffic lane toward a private driveway off Red Arrow highway east of Paw Paw.

Mrs. Margaret Millard, 48, East St., Joseph street, Paw Paw, was driver of the station wagon, police said. Her husband, Dr. David Millard, a Van Buren county deputy medical examiner, was called to the accident scene by police and pronounced Miller dead.

Police said Mrs. Millard was driving eight teenage members of the Folk Dancers home from a performance at Western Michigan University when the accident occurred near 29½ street.

Mrs. Millard was listed in fair condition at Bronson Methodist hospital, Kalamazoo, according to a hospital spokesman. Of the eight passengers in her car, two were seriously injured.

Stephanie Mukowski, 15, route 1, Paw Paw, was listed in critical condition at Burgess hospital, Kalamazoo, and Mark Field, 18, route 1, Lawton, was listed in serious condition at Bronson, according to hospital spokesman.

The Millard's daughter, Vicki, 17, and Dale Zuidema, 18, route 1, Corwith road, Lawrence; James Ottens, 17, route 2, Hartford; and Christine Holmes, 18, route 1, North State street, Gobles, were all treated and released at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, a hospital spokesman said.

Two other passengers, Diane Fleagle, 14, Gobles, and Joe

Markus, 16, Paw Paw, sought their own treatment for injuries, according to the Lake View spokesman.

According to Elaine Washburn of Paw Paw, the Folk Dancer's director, the group finished its performance at about 9:30 p.m., stopped to eat, and was on the way home when the accident occurred. She said Mrs. Millard was attempting to turn into the Makowski girl's driveway at the time of the collision.

"We always have parents helping as drivers," Miss Washburn said. "The kids aren't allowed to drive (to and from performances)."

Lawton police said the Rothhaar boy, a fifth grade student in the Lawton schools, and his sister, Lisa, a second grade student, were walking along the road when Steven stepped in front of the car. The sister was not injured.

LOREN MILLER

According to police, the driver of the car was Linda Marle Woody, 17, CIC-600, Law-

The car was eastbound, police said. No tickets were issued.

Steven was taken to Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, initially, and then transferred to Borgess, where he died Sunday.

Mr. Miller was born April 30, 1954, in Paw Paw. He was employed by Honey Bear Cleaning Company of Lawton and was an Air Force veteran.

Surviving are his widow, Kathryn; a son, Nathan, at home; his father, Paul Miller, Kalamazoo and his mother, Mrs. Zoe Miller, Lawton; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miller, Paw Paw, and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Reynolds, Lawton; two sisters, Paula and Deedee Miller, Lawton.

A funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Prindle-Thompson funeral home, Lawton, where friends may call after 6 this evening. The Rosary will be recited at 6:30 this evening in the funeral home.

Burnt will be in Oak Grove cemetery, Lawton.

Funeral arrangements for Steven Rothhaar were incomplete today. They are being handled by the Chapels of the Pines of the Truesdale Funeral home in Portage.

Jungblut, River Valley junior. They received prizes of $100 each at presentation Sunday at DANK club, Pipestone road, Sodus township. Fourteen students were in competition on recommendation of German language teachers. Students were tested on ability to speak, read, comprehend and write the German language. (Staff photo)

More than 2,500 more fans lined Main street to welcome the team home.

Fans along Red Bud Trail who were unable to either make it into town or join the caravan, simply came to the front of their homes. Many held signs congratulating the team. One family even painted the number one in the middle of Red Bud Trail about two miles from the U.S.-31 intersection.

"It's just fantastic support," Wilson exclaimed. "I haven't seen this much support in all my experience. I feel super great. I just feel 100 pounds lighter."

The team received a standing ovation upon entering the gym and garnered several more during the festivities. Garbert gave Wilson and the team the key to the city.

Buchanan athletic director and former coach Ray Berry called the team "one of the greatest I've ever seen."

"The nice thing about this team is that they're not only champions on the floor, but they're also champions off the floor," he added.

Dr. Walt Vanderbush, high school principal, said it was "one of the proudest moments of my life."

"It makes the community a little greater in everyone's eyes," said Vanderbush, whose sons, Walt and Kevin, started for Buchanan. "I feel this team will bring credit to Buchanan in the future and they certainly have already."

Each cheerleader was introduced and given a medal with a megaphone on it showing that each girl had been a cheerleader for a state championship team.

Don Rennhack, assistant principal and another former Buchanan cage coach was master of ceremonies, introduced each player on the team to the crowd and each was given a standing ovation. But perhaps the biggest round of cheers was saved for center Ken Garrett, winner of All-State honors.

Man, Boy Victims Of Van Buren Mishaps

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Van Buren county's highway death toll flumped by two over the weekend.

A Mattawan man was killed Saturday night in a crash which injured nine other people, including eight members of the Van Buren Folk Dancers group.

On Sunday, an 11-year-old Lawton boy injured March 22 when he stepped in front of a car on Second street in Lawton, succumbed Sunday in Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo.

The man was identified as Loren Eugene Miller, 22.

The boy was Steven Rothhaar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Rothhaar, route 2, Lawton.

The deaths boosted the county's death toll to six so far for the year.

State Police from the Paw Paw post said Miller was killed when a station wagon carrying the members of the Folk Dancers group was turned across his traffic lane toward a private driveway off Red Arrow highway east of Paw Paw.

Mrs. Margaret Millard, 48, East St. Joseph street, Paw Paw, was driver of the station wagon, police said. Her husband, Dr. David Millard, a Van Buren county deputy medical examiner, was called to the accident scene by police and pronounced Miller dead.

Police said Mrs. Millard was driving eight teenage members of the Folk Dancers home from a performance at Western Michigan University when the accident occurred near 29½ street.

Mrs. Millard was listed in fair condition at Bronson Methodist hospital, Kalamazoo, according to a hospital spokesman. Of the eight passengers in her car, two were seriously injured.

Stephanie Makowski, 15, route 1, Paw Paw, was listed in critical condition at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, and Mark Field, 18, route 1, Lawrence, was listed in serious condition at Bronson, according to hospital spokesman.

The Millards' daughter, Vicki, 17, and Dale Zoodzman, 18, route 1, Corwin road, Lawrence; James Ottens, 17, route 2, Hartford; and Christine Holmes, 18, route 1, North State street, Gobles, were all treated and released at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, a hospital spokesman said.

Two other passengers, Diane Fleagal, 14, Gobles, and Joe

Markus, 15, Paw Paw, sought their own treatment for injuries, according to the Lake View spokesman.

According to Elaine Washburn of Paw Paw, the Folk Dancer's director, the group finished its performance at about 9:30 p.m., stopped to eat, and was on the way home when the accident occurred. She said Mrs. Millard was attempting to turn into the Makowski girl's driveway at the time of the collision.

"We always have parents helping as drivers," Miss Washburn said. "The kids aren't allowed to drive (to and from performances)."

Lawton police said the Rothhaar boy, a fifth grade student in the Lawton schools, and his sister, Lisa, a second grade student, were walking along the road when Steven stepped in front of the car. The sister was not injured.

According to police, the driver of the car was Linda Marie Woody, 17, CR-669, Lawton. The car was eastbound, police said. No tickets were issued.

Steven was taken to Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, initially, and then transferred to Borgess, where he died Sunday.

Mr. Miller was born April 30, 1953, in Paw Paw. He was employed by Honey Bear Canning Company of Lawton and was an Air Force veteran.

Surviving are his widow, Kathryn; a son, Nathan, at home; his father, Paul Miller, Kalamazoo; and his mother, Mrs. Zoo Miller, Lawton; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miller, Paw Paw, and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Reynolds, Lawton; two sisters, Paula and Deedee Miller, Lawton.

Area Officers Probe Thefts, Break-Ins

A Benton Harbor policeman said he was bitten and another officer kicked by a young woman being placed under arrest Sunday. She was booked on a charge of resisting arrest, officers reported.

Treated for a bite on the finger at Mercy hospital and returned to duty was Patrolman Kenneth Barts. Patrolman Greg Platts said he was kicked on the ankle, but no treatment was required.

The officers said the incident occurred in a parking lot at the corner of Territorial road and Second street about 4:30 p.m. They said they were attempting to question a young woman who allegedly had created a disturbance at Park's Party store, 450 East Main street.

Officers said the woman refused to give her name and began shouting obscenities, drawing a crowd. She allegedly kicked Platts and broke free. She was caught after a short foot chase and Barts said he was bitten while attempting to handcuff the young woman.

Carl Maddron, manager of the party store, said he called police after a young woman was "panhandling" from customers in his store and began shouting obscenities when asked to leave.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Barbara Ann Poole, 17, of 737 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor.

A Benton Harbor woman who said she was carrying $215 in cash in her purse told city police Sunday two young men grabbed the purse and fled while she was walking near the intersection of Empire avenue and Pearl street.

Anne Sue Isby, 29, of 855 Pearl street, said she chased the two men about two blocks, but could not keep up with them. She was unharmed in the incident that occurred about 7:30 p.m.

Berrien sheriff's deputies Sunday investigated break-ins at three homes on Dunewood drive, Bridgeman, one of which received an estimated $1,000 damage caused by knives.

The damaged home is owned by Morton Ziker, deputies reported. Ziker told deputies interior walls and woodwork were cut apparently by knives. Nothing of value appeared to have been stolen, but cabinets and drawers were ransacked.

Ziker also reported the break-ins at two other homes owned by Lee Sagers and James I. Roys.

No severe damage was reported at those homes, but drawers and cabinets were ransacked.

Deputies said it was undetermined if valuables were stolen.

Deputies' reports indicated it appeared to have been the work of juveniles using the homes for parties.

Six classrooms were reported ransacked in a break-in investigated Saturday by Benton Harbor police at Henry C. Morton school on the Benton Harbor district, 267 North Huff avenue.

Police said it hasn't been determined if anything was stolen. Police said papers and other items were removed from desks and cabinets and strewn about the floors. Police were notified at 2:35 p.m.

Benton Harbor police investigated four thefts over the weekend:

A citizens' band radio, valued at $20, from the motor home of Harold Barton, Battle Creek, parked at the Riverview boat launching ramp area.

Three electrical testing meters, valued at $100, from the pickup of Warren Damon, 4732 Riverside road, Coloma, parked in a lot in the 200 block of Park street.

A portable television, valued at $150, from the home of Leo Isom, 754 Pavone street.

Berrien deputies said four rings, valued at $240, were reported stolen from the home of Robert A. Sommer, 4188 Woodland Hills, Bridgeman. The rings were described as a gold diamond engagement ring, two silver rings, and a class ring.

Michigan areas previously designated as natural landmarks by the Interior Department were:

The Grand More Lakes and Warren Woods in Berrien County, St. Joseph, Bog in Schoolcraft County in the Upper Peninsula, and Northern Hardwoods Natural Area near Marquette.

ing and police found a quantity of pills, alleged to be amphetamines. The car was stopped on I-94 near Niles avenue, St. Joseph township, about 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Witnesses told of a fight outside, and Felton was picked up at his residence.

Dennis M. Grega, 22, of 822 Wisconsin avenue, St. Joseph, was arrested in St. Joseph about 4:38 a.m. Sunday, when police confiscated a small quantity of suspected marijuana after stopping an auto. Grega was booked on a charge of violating the controlled substance act and released on $100 bond, police said. Police said a car was stopped for driving from one lane to another in the 2000 block of Niles avenue.

State police of the Benton Harbor post arrested two men Sunday on charges of violation of the controlled substance act in separate incidents.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Paul Edward Meyer, 22, of 441 Chart street, Plainwell, and Donald Patrick Grant, 29 (also known as James Edward Grant, 31), Southfield.

Troopers said Meyers was arrested about 10:30 p.m. when his car was stopped for speed.

Anthony's hospital, Michigan city. She suffered head and back injuries in the 8:30 p.m. accident, police said.

Wimmer and his granddaughter, Mary Wisner, 11, also of LaPorte, were both treated at St. Anthony's, and later released, according to the hospital.

Troopers said Wisner, whose auto crossed the center line, was ticketed for driving on the wrong side of the road.

LaPorte, Ind., residents were injured, one hospitalized, as a result of a two-car accident south of here last night, state police at New Buffalo said.

Police said an auto driven by Feltie Wisner, 61, LaPorte, pulled from a parking lot near Wilson road onto M-238 and crashed with a car driven by Hazel Wright, 49, also of LaPorte.

Mrs. Wright was listed in fair condition this morning at St.

University Students Map Wine Marketing Programs

Student marketing groups from three Michigan universities may have an opportunity few students have — actually seeing a product they helped create offered for sale on the store shelf.

Marketing students from Western Michigan University, University of Michigan and Michigan State University are developing wine marketing programs for credit as a result of a new concept from Warner Vineyards of Paw Paw, the state's largest winery, according to a winery spokesman.

Doug Milson, director of marketing for Warner Vineyards, originated the idea for the University Wine Marketing seminar and invited Dr. Robert Trader, chairman of Western's marketing department, Dr. John Allen of Michigan State's food marketing department, and Dr. Claude Martin, associate professor of marketing at the University of Michigan to include the project as part of their graduate marketing courses.

"So often the business community complains that new graduates have little experience or knowledge of actual business demands. This type of project gives them a chance to get some practical marketing experience and produce a meaningful product," Milson said.

Student teams from each of the universities are developing a marketing program, including recommendations for type, taste and color of wine, its packaging, and promotion.

Warner Vineyards' management for evaluation.

Depending on the results, the students' recommendations could lead to the development of the newest additions in the selection of Warner wines available to consumers.

Virtually no restrictions have been placed on the student efforts. "The types of wines they recommend and how they suggest marketing the product will be determined by the results of their market evaluations," Milson said.

ing adventure during the spring term.

The various marketing teams at each university will select the products and marketing programs they wish to present to Warner Vineyards' management for evaluation.

All the new sites are controlled by either the state Department of Natural Resources or Michigan State University.

Dead Stream Swamp, 30 miles northeast of Cadillac, covers nearly 12,000 acres of Roscommon and Missaukee counties and includes one of the largest stands of northern white cedar left in the country. Wildlife there includes the bald eagle, the black bear, bobcats and the snowshoe hare.

Tobico Marsh, seven miles north of Bay City, is a rich wetland along Lake Huron's Saginaw Bay shoreline. It is a resting place for Canada geese, snow geese and whistling swan.

A 24-acre virgin stand of beech-maple forest on the Michigan State campus also has won landmark status. It has been preserved since 1852. The woods includes trees estimated to be 200 to 300 years old.

MSU also owns Newton Woods in Cass County — an oak-hickory stand that has been kept in its natural condition for the past years.

The other woodland is the Haven Hill Natural Area, a part of the Highland State Recreation Park in Oakland County, 14 miles of Pontiac. The site has been undisturbed for 75 years, and badgers and more than 100 species of birds can count there.

Michigan areas previously designated as natural landmarks by the Interior Department were:

The Grand More Lakes and Warren Woods in Berrien County, St. Joseph, Bog in Schoolcraft County in the Upper Peninsula, and Northern Hardwoods Natural Area near Marquette.

The final year master's degree students in marketing, 12 from Western Michigan and 39 from the University of Michigan, are in the final stages of their project. Students at Michigan State will begin working on their wine market-

The recent designation brings the number of places in the state with landmark status to nine.

Newcomers to the list are two wetlands — Dead Stream Swamp in Central Michigan and Tobico Marsh, a waterfowl refuge along Saginaw Bay.

Three forest habitats also made the list. They are a woodlot on the Michigan State University campus, a state recreation reserve in Oakland County and an oak-hickory forest near KAHAZOO.

The new designation does not mean any special federal funding for the sites. But the Interior Department said it does help set the areas aside for preservation in the future.

A committee of university scientists selected the sites on the basis of what they called "environmental significance."

All the new sites are controlled by either the state Department of Natural Resources or Michigan State University.

Moslems Score Victories

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Hard-driving Moslem forces smashed through Christian defenses in Beirut and other Lebanese towns today. Syria was trying to arrange another cease-fire in Lebanon's 11-month-old civil war. But sources close to leftist warlord Kamal Jumblatt said he would not join in a truce until his Moslem forces capture the Beirut port area and drive Christians militiamen out of a crumbling salient.

Health Code Changes

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A special state commission will meet in Lansing today to finish making changes in Michigan's health code. The new code is to be presented to Gov. William Milliken and introduced as legislation by May 1. Drafters of the new code say that if approved it will change the health services available to every person in the state. The document is an update of the state's more than 1,000 health laws and regulations — some of which are 100 years old. It also consolidates all the laws into a single form. The project is governed by a 12-member governor's commission and a 10-member legislative committee.

Cable Car Crash Victims

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Officials at Calvin College in Grand Rapids have confirmed that one of their students was killed and another seriously injured Friday in Colorado when two cable cars carrying skiers snapped loose and fell 100 feet to the ground. Officials said the two young women were roommates at Calvin who had gone to Vail for the spring break. Dead is Carol Pasterkamp, 18, a Calvin freshman from Colorado. Miss Pasterkamp's 14-year-old sister was killed in the ski tragedy.

Market Edges Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged upward today in a mild initial response to word of another rise in the government's index of leading economic indicators last month.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up a fraction, and gainers took a modest lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

As trading began, the Commerce Department reported that its leading-indicators index, which is designed to detect future trends in the economy, posted its fourth consecutive monthly gain in February with a 0.8 per cent advance.

But the 2.2 per cent surge originally reported in the index for January was revised downward to 1.5.

Today's early prices included Merck, up 3/8 at 75; Budd Co., down 1/4 at 14%; Simplicity Pattern, unchanged at 18 1/4, and U.S. Steel, up 1/8 at 79 1/2.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average edged up 1.33 to 1,03.46, bringing its gain for the week to 23.61 points.

Advances outpaced declines by about a 5-4 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index managed a 0.5 gain to 34.87.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .15 to 104.73.

Suit Claims Herbicide Hurt Crop

By DENNIS COGSWELL,

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Hartford man who claims his soybean crop was severely damaged by the application of a herbicide in 1973 has filed a lawsuit seeking $30,000 in damages from the manufacturer of the chemical and the distributor.

A suit filed in Van Buren circuit court on behalf of Robert Williamson claims that the manufacturer of the herbicide, Chemagro Corporation of Kalamazoo, failed to allow for an error in application of the chemical which might lead to damage. Sohigro Service company of Hartford, from whom Williamson purchased the herbicide, also negligently analyzed the soil on which it was applied, contributing to the damage, the suit says.

As a result of being treated with the herbicide, known as Sencor, Williamson's 170 acres of soybeans yielded only 3,800 bushels, the suit said, when under normal conditions the yield should have been 6,800 bushels.

The suit says Chemagro failed to properly label the herbicide as to the proper amount to be used, and that Sohigro overestimated the amount of organic matter in the soil.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bus and subway workers — anxious to retain their job security in layoff-littered New York — have authorized a strike for midnight Wednesday that would cripple the city.

More than 4,000 members of the Transit Workers Union voted without dissent Sunday to authorize the strike after union president Matthew Guinan told them the vote would give their negotiators "a hell of a lot more strength."

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

What's Wrong with Milk-Pricing Policies?

(First of four columns)

Milk, among nature's near-perfect foods, is now so costly that in Milwaukee it exceeds the price of beer. In that city, milk retails for 1.1 cents an ounce; beer sells for 1.04 cents an ounce.

Prices of milk products also reached record highs at the end of '75. Wholesale butter prices in Chicago peaked in December at $1.09 a pound, while cheese prices at Wisconsin assembly points were pushing $1.04 a pound.

Until milk production traditionally rises this spring, retail prices of milk and milk products won't start to level off — and even then, the prospect is that, prices in '76 will be higher than in recent years.

What might be the impact of such rising prices on the general health of Americans, particularly our very young? Are the U.S. government's dairy programs placing the special interest of dairy farmers above the general interest of us, America's consumers?

Why, with milk prices already way up, did Congress pass legislation (later vetoed) that the Department of Agriculture said would have hiked the price of a gallon of milk by 8 cents, a pound of cheese by 10 cents? Do dairy cooperatives exert an excessive amount of market power, and if so, what should be done about this power?

Not only are consumer groups as well as some small dairies asking these questions with mounting urgency. Joining them also are the Justice Department, the Federal Trade Commission, the President's Council on Wage and Price Stability.

And the concern is justified, for we, as consumers, spend more than $21 billion a year on milk and dairy products, roughly 13 per cent of our overall food budgets. The issues at stake are of crucial significance.

But before you can understand the struggle now underway to formulate a national dairy policy to balance the needs of farmers with those of consumers, you must keep in mind some basics about the milk industry and how the U.S. government got into regulating it.

Cows produce milk regularly, twice a day, seven days a week. But milk drinkers don't buy the same amount of milk each day. Their demand, for milk rises and falls, peaks on Mondays and Fridays, drops on Saturdays and Sundays. Milk prices are fixed.

In the words of a government spokesman to my Washington associate, Brooke Shearer, "The public would bereaming for action if an unregulated industry imposed a $700 million annual burden on it through monopolistic practices or under-the-table price collusion."

Tomorrow, how milk prices are fixed.

Flora's Vanishing

By SUSAN AGER

Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Everywhere you look there might once have been something you'll never see again.

There may have been some ginseng on your front lawn, a chestnut tree where your garage now stands, a trillium species or two in your kidney bean field.

But now they're extinct or almost extinct in Michigan, along with 22 other plants. All have been forced out by suburbia, agricultural development, commercial exploitation or just plain picking.

Another 192 plants—including the Upper Peninsula club moss used by florists and the pitcher's thistle native to Michigan sand dunes—can still be found if you look hard, but they, too, face extinction.

Altogether, about 10 per cent of the 3,000 or so different plants found in Michigan are growing scarce, say state plant researchers.

So, who cares?

"What if the penicillium mold had become extinct before Fleming discovered its utility?" replies John Beaman.

Once a plant goes extinct, there is a gerin plasm that is gone forever. It can never be retrieved. It may turn out the plant would have had great value for mankind—it could have become a food plant or a medicinal plant," he says.

"There's still so much we don't know about many plants, and if they do become extinct they're gone forever, and there's no way of bringing them back."

Beaman was one of seven plant specialists who recently completed drawing together a list of 328 plants that are dangerously dwindling in number. A 1974 state law punishes those who pick endangered species—there are about 100 of them on the list—with up to $1,000 fine, 90 days in jail, or both.

Beaman, a Michigan State University botanist, says it will be "terribly difficult" to enforce the law. He's not too sure it will do any good, other than to point out plants people shouldn't pick, and alert botanists and state officials to those they must keep an eye on.

Descriptions and drawings of the threatened plants eventually will be distributed, state natural resources officials hope. In most cases, however, there is nothing conservationists can do to stop the extinction of a plant except hope.

The 1973 law can, however, curb exploitation of some plants being picked and sold for profit, some to natural food companies, Beaman says. "The present fad for edible wild plants might just contribute to the increasing rarity of some of our species," he said.

Club moss, once prolific in the U.P., also has been harvested for commercial floral use and is growing scarce.

Ginseng and golden seal, both reported to have general healing qualities, were abundant in the state a century ago, Beaman says. But people picked them to use or sell, and bulldozers plowed under the rich woodlands they grew in, and now both are either extinct or close to it in Michigan, he says.

The destruction of native habitats—prairie lands in southwest Michigan, wetlands along the coasts and rich woodlands throughout the state—also have cut populations of some plant species and threatened others.

Herbicides sprayed along railroad right-of-ways have poisoned the only prairie-type land left for some grasses and plants, Beaman says, and runoff of herbicides into stream beds has destroyed the once abundant flowering aquatic plantain.

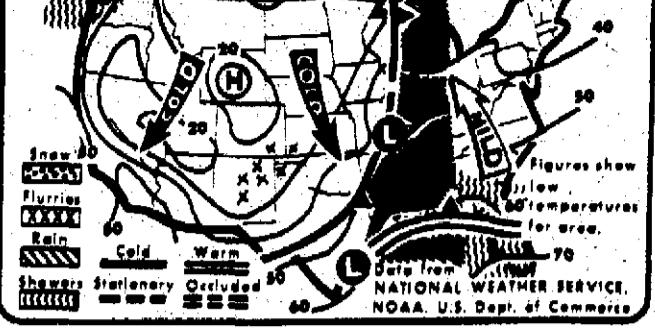

Both the elephant and the American elm have fallen victim to diseases imported from Europe and Asia. Both species, Beaman said, are nearing extinction not only in Michigan but throughout the country.

The bill before the House would impose probation only for a first offense.

The House also could begin debate this week on two constitutional amendments to permit collective bargaining rights for all state employees, or for the State Police alone. Both resolutions, if approved by the legislature, would go on the November ballot for a vote of Michigan citizens.

What's Wrong with Milk-Pricing Policies?

(First of four columns)

Milk, among nature's near-perfect foods, is now so costly that in Milwaukee it exceeds the price of beer. In that city, milk retails for 1.1 cents an ounce; beer sells for 1.04 cents an ounce.

Prices of milk products also reached record highs at the end of '75. Wholesale butter prices in Chicago peaked in December at $1.09 a pound, while cheese prices at Wisconsin assembly points were pushing $1.04 a pound.

Until milk production traditionally rises this spring, retail prices of milk and milk products won't start to level off — and even then, the prospect is that prices in '76 will be higher than in recent years.

What might be the impact of such rising prices on the general health of Americans, particularly our very young? Are the U.S. government's dairy programs placing the special interest of dairy farmers above the general interest of us, America's consumers?

That's when the U.S. government stepped in to assure a steady supply of milk and to raise farmers' incomes. To achieve this, the government set minimum prices that dairies and makers of cheese in most parts of the country had to pay for milk. And although the industry has changed greatly since the 1930s, the laws that direct the way the federal government regulates milk power, and if so, what should be done about this power?

Not only are consumer groups as well as some small dairies asking these questions with mounting urgency. Joining them also are the Justice Department, the Federal Trade Commission, the President's Council on Wage and Price Stability.

And the concern is justified, for we, as consumers, spend more than $21 billion a year on milk and dairy products, roughly 13 per cent of our overall food budgets. The issues at stake are of crucial significance.

But before you can understand the struggle now underway to formulate a national dairy policy to balance the needs of farmers with those of consumers, you must keep in mind some basics about the milk industry and how the U.S. government got into regulating it.

In the words of a government spokesman to my Washington associate, Brooke Shearer, "The public would be screaming for action if an unregulated industry imposed a $700 million a year, estimate of the President's Council on Wage and Price Stability.

Cows produce milk regularly, twice a day, seven days a week. But milk drinkers don't buy the same amount of milk each day. Their demand for milk rises and falls, peaks on Mondays and Fridays, drops on Saturdays and Sundays. Milk prices are fixed.

Some State Flora's Vanishing

By SUSAN AGER

Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Everywhere you look there might once have been something you'll never see again.

There may have been some ginseng on your front lawn, a chestnut tree where your garage now stands, a trillium species or two in your kidney bean field.

But now they're extinct or almost extinct in Michigan, along with 22 other plants. All have been forced out by suburbia, agricultural development, commercial exploitation or just plain picking.

Another 192 plants—including the Upper Peninsula club moss used by florists and the pitcher's thistle native to Michigan sand dunes—can still be found if you look hard, but they, too, face extinction.

Altogether, about 10 per cent of the 3,000 or so different plants found in Michigan are growing scarce, say state plant researchers.

So, who cares?

"What if the penicillium mold had become extinct before Fleming discovered its utility?" replies John Beaman.

"Once a plant goes extinct, there is a germ plasm that is gone forever. It can never be retrieved. It may turn out the plant would have had great value for mankind—it could have become a food plant or a medicinal plant," he says.

"There's still so much we don't know about many plants, and if they do become extinct they're gone forever. And if you say, 'But you can't agree with both,' I'd be compelled to say I agree with you, too.

Beaman was one of seven plant specialists who recently completed drawing together a list of 325 plants that are dangerously dwindling in number. A 1974 state law punishes those who pick endangered species—there are about 190 of them on the list—with up to a $1,000 fine, 90 days in jail, or both.

The bill protecting the handicapped, sponsored by Sen. John Otterbacher, D-Grand Rapids, establishes a new category for protection under the Civil Rights Commission. It forbids discrimination against those who are handicapped and covers employment, housing, the use of public accommodations and education.

Businesses and public facilities will not be required to take drastic steps to make them selves more convenient for the handicapped.

But the dairy industry came under federal regulation, prices fluctuated widely from season to season, creating difficulties both for consumers and farmers. To bargain with dairies and to maintain adequate milk prices, farmers began to form cooperatives in the early 1900s — efforts that were fairly successful until the 1930s, when price wars, milk strikes and violence hit the milk industry.

The Senate is also to vote on a bill to make it easier for townships with more than 5,000 residents to become charter townships, giving them the power to levy up to five mills in taxes without a vote of the public.

The bill before the House would impose probation only for a first offense.

The House also could begin debate this week on two constitutional amendments to permit collective bargaining rights for all state employees, or for the State Police alone. Both resolutions, if approved by the legislature, would go on the November ballot for a vote of the Michigan citizens.

Bonds Total $900,000 For Three Drug Suspects

Bonds for each of three Chicagoans charged with possession of heroin and cocaine were set at the same figure as the value of the alleged uncut narcotics — $300,000 — at arraignments in Berrien Fifth District court.

Unable to post the bonds, and jailed, were Betzaida Garcia, 20, Pedro C. Garcia, 32, and Raul A. Perez, 28, all of Chicago. They demanded preliminary examinations or charges of possession with intent to deliver heroin and cocaine March 26 in Coloma township.

District Judge John T. Hammond said that $300,000 is probably the highest bond he's ever set. "But then it isn't everyday that someone's charged with possessing a pound of heroin," he added.

Hammond said that the arresting officer, Sgt.

Jerry Crockett of Coloma city, reported he confiscated one pound of alleged heroin, with a street value of around $250,000, and seven ounces of cocaine, with a value of about $50,000, from a car which was broken down at the intersection of Friday road and I-94.

An earlier estimate by Lt. Jack Drach of the Berrien county Metro Narcotics Unit set the total value street value of the alleged narcotics at $250,000.

The police reportedly also confiscated two pistols and over $4,000 cash. Police noticed the disabled auto and when they approached it a woman inside apparently attempted to hide something, police said.

Police said a 16-year-old girl with the three adults was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Benton Teenager In Court On Embezzlement Charge

A former employee of Belscott Department store, 1800 M-139, Benton township, demanded examination Friday in Berrien Fifth District court on a charge of embezzling over $100 in merchandise.

Released on personal recognition bond was Melvyn Darrell Burke, 17, of 2393 South Glendale avenue, Benton township. He is charged in a warrant of embezzling on March 1, a radio-tape player; camera, film pack and flash; knife; socks and lighter.

Belscott, a Chicago-based retailer, has leased the former Shoppers Fair store and is preparing to open.

Also demanding examinations were:

Jimmie Lee Flowers, 22, of 364 Stevens, Benton Harbor, charged with assault with a deadly weapon against Tony Kilpatrick Feb. 13 in Benton Harbor. Bond of $10,000 was not posted and he was jailed.

Matthew B. Yow, 18, of Benton Harbor, on charges of larceny of a citizens' band radio from a motor vehicle and possession of burglar tools — a lock puller — March 25 in Stevensville. He was jailed under $15,000 bond. He was also sentenced to fine and costs of $32 for possession of a blank pistol March 12 in St. Joseph township.

Arrested with Yow by detectives from the Berrien County Metro Crime unit was Irey L. Brooks, 18, of Riverside road, Benton township. He demanded examination on a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle and was jailed under $5,000 bond.

Sentenced by District judges Friday were:

Gerald S. Scott, 24, of 1266 Pearl, Benton Harbor, 45 days in jail, $200 and two years probation for resisting arrest March 15 in St. Joseph township.

Richard F. Huston, 17, of Coloma, 10 days in jail, $61 and one year probation for simple assault against Andrew Gerhardt in Coloma township Feb. 15.

Larry J. Clabin, 23, of 708 Pipestone, Benton Harbor, 60 days in jail and $122 for receiving and concealing stolen property valued under $100, a citizens' band radio, Nov. 12 in Benton Harbor.

Stanley R. Ervin, 40, of Benton Harbor, $75 for writing an insufficient fund check for under $50 in Stevensville last July.

Denise Dandridge, 1, of Grand Rapids, $51 for use of marijuana March 26 in Benton township.

Jerry Porter, 30, and Annie B. Porter, 36, both of Chicago, $150 each for possession of an unregistered pistol in Watervliet township March 6.

Charles W. Williams, 23, of 741 McAllister, Benton Harbor, $152 and six months probation for driving while ability impaired by drugs Jan. 14 in Benton township.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Driving while license suspended — Perry L. Looper, 22, of 1325 Colfax, and Robert Kirkwood, 44, of 623 Buss avenue, both of Benton Harbor, each three days in jail and $71.

Driving while intoxicated — Susan J. Quardokus, 30, of 4315 Ridge road, Stevensville, and Timothy J. Dohner, 19, of 340 North Berrien street, New Buffalo, each $155; Charles Razo Jr., 21, of 600 Columbus, Benton Harbor, $155 or 30 days in jail; Wilmer J. Dyson, 31, of 159 East Britain, Benton Harbor, and

The youth said he was bumped by a car which pulled from a driveway onto the street. The driver reportedly stopped and asked if the youth was all right. The reported answer was "yes," and both went their separate ways. A leg pain developed afterward and the youth went to the hospital, police said.

Newsman Killed

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A political reporter who often criticized police corruption was shot in the back and killed while listening to a radio newscast at his home in southern Thailand, police reported today. The victim was Pong Harnpachernchok, who wrote for a weekly newspaper in Nakorn Srithammarat province and was a part-time reporter for the Bangkok Daily News.

Prison Terms

Handed To Pair

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A former national assemblyman and a magazine editor were sentenced to prison today for an article demanding restoration of full democracy.

The Seoul district court sentenced Kim Yoon-shik, 62, to three years for writing the article and Keh Hoon-je, 54, editor of a religious magazine, to two years for giving the article to a third man to have it printed.

71-Year-Old 'Retiree' He'd Go Crazy Sitting Around

By JEFF GUTSELL

FRUITPORT, Mich. (AP) — One day recently, Don Irwin, 71, was down the street from his Fruitport Village home fixing a neighbor's light switch.

Later he was in his workshop nailing together and sanding a doll rocking cradle that a mother wanted for her daughter.

And in another hour, Irwin was driving to nearby Norton Shores with a purple martin birdhouse he had built for a friend.

For the past 14 years, Irwin has called this "retirement."

"If I sit in the house just for a day, I'm ill to be tied," Irwin said. "I don't know how some folks can sit like that. They never seem to get up and do anything. I'd go crazy."

Irwin has operated Don's

Fix-It Shop behind his home in Fruitport nearly since the day he retired from masonry work in 1962. Now he takes as much pride in his woodwork as he once did in laying the decorative masonry of the Muskegon Post Office or building a fireplace.

Irwin gets his projects referred to him from friends and neighbors and past customers. Usually he has half a dozen projects going at once.

The work also has saved his life, he maintained.

Since his retirement, he has suffered four heart attacks. He has had eight operations for these or other ailments.

But the heart attacks and the operations haven't stopped Irwin. He still moves about easily and handles his power saws, drills and sanders with confidence. And he doesn't mind walking down the road to the store or putting in a little time fishing.

He can do this because of his shop, he says.

"This is the way I keep going," Irwin explained. "If I stopped and thought about those heart attacks, I don't think I'd last six months."

"A lot of people, they'll sit around and think about it till they just give up. I hope I never do that."

EMU Strike Is Over

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Some 550 employees ratified their first contract with Eastern Michigan University on Saturday, ending a 24-day strike. A union spokesman said the vote by United Auto Workers Local 1973 and 1978 was about 95 per cent in favor of ratification. The union said the two-year pact includes a five per cent pay raise retroactive to last July 1, plus five per cent this July 1 on the minimum and maximum pay rates and $400 for each employee over the life of the contract.

Worried about too much fat in your diet?

Prison Terms Handed To Pair

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A former national assemblyman and a magazine editor were sentenced to prison today for an article demanding restoration of full democracy.

The Seoul district court sentenced Kim Yoon-shik, 62, to three years for writing the article and Keh Hoon-je, 54, editor of a religious magazine, to two years for giving the article to a third man to have it printed.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Step up and save more at Kroger!

Kroger is pleased to be the first area food store to offer special savings and privileges to persons 55 years of age or older living on fixed incomes. Get your Club Card at Kroger, show proof of age, SIGN YOUR "CLUB" CARD, AND KEEP IT WHERE YOU'LL HAVE IT FOR SHOPPING.

★ Here's How It Works

Your Kroger "Club" card entitles you to exemption from making the extra purchases required for our coupon specials. (For example, Kroger Large Eggs may be priced 85¢/doz with coupon and "B" will need only the coupon, and if you don't take a newspaper, you'll have extra coupons available at the store. You may use your "Club" card anytime you shop for coupon purchases exempted.

Kroger "RAIN CHECK" Policy

Everything you buy at Kroger is guaranteed for your total satisfaction regardless of manufacturer. If you are not satisfied, Kroger will replace your item with the same brand or a comparable brand or refund your money.

We also guarantee that we will do everything in our power to have ample supplies of all advertised specials on our shelves when you shop for them. If, due to conditions beyond our control, we run out of an advertised special, we will substitute the same item in a comparable brand (when such an item is available) reflecting the same savings or, if you prefer, give you a "RAIN CHECK" which entitles you to the same advertised special at the same price any time within 30 days.
